'Exhortation By Megaphone'

Have we, in our international relationships, substituted "exhortation by megaphone" for diplomacy?

Is there difficulty in reconciling the spirit of two great pronouncements by President Eisenhower (his inaugural and the more recent peace address) with the words and deeds of his secretary of state, his cabinet and congressional leadership?

Some foreign diplomats, friendly to this country, think so.

In a discussion recently in Washington at the home of a diplomat from a Middle-Eastern country, these two conclusions were presented as being among the more puzzling aspects of the new administration. One diplomat present went so far as to say that at times one had the impression the cabinet and most of the Republican Senate leadership almost openly took the attitude that the President was a nice fellow who exhibited weakness in this respect, and therefore would be forgiven and ignored.

"Take Secretary Dulles' remarks on the President's speech as an illustration," he said. "Mr. Eisenhower took great care to adopt a conciliatory attitude. He twice emphasized his formula was not immutable. Secretary Dulles later declared that if there were not a prompt response from the Soviet he would urge moving ahead strongly on all fronts."

Ultimatum

"Secretary Dulles was issuing what amounted to an ultimatum," he continued. "The President was issuing an invitation. To us, looking on hopefully, it too often seems that the Senate leadership of the President's party and certain members of his cabinet are completely unaware of Mr. Eisenhower's spirit or purpose and give little beyond lip service to his wishes."

A second diplomat, noting the President had asserted the need for trade and less aid, pointed out the Senate leadership was reluctant to approve even a year's extension of the reciprocal trade agreements, and that almost at the time the President spoke the Defense Department had turned down a British bid on materials which was more than $1,000,000 lower than the best American offer. "All this has happened," he said, "with no word from the President. Yet he cannot fail to see that apparently only he and Secretary of Agriculture Benson wish to open the small crack in the free trade door by another inch or so."

The third thought it would be almost impossible for this country to forego "diplomacy by amplified exhortation" and return to real diplomacy while investigating committes are at liberty to subpoena any diplomat or soldier for a period of interrogation, and jail him for not telling all that has been said.

NATO

That there is need for high level diplomacy is highlighted by the doldrums apparent in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Here again, the feeling is that while President Eisenhower created NATO's organization, neither his cabinet nor party leadership really believes in NATO.

Indeed, there is a story, no doubt apochryphal, that when Charles E. Wilson came in as defense secretary, he thought NATO was some sort of explosive like TNT. (As, indeed, it may become.)

France, with a continually weak government, is wary of our closeness with Germany, and is also unable, because of the Socialists and Communists, to put through the 24-month minimum service required by NATO for participating armies. As a result, neighboring nations are afraid of political repercussions if they insist.

Norway and Denmark are building the designated airfields, but are not willing to have them manned in peacetime by NATO units other than their own. There are everywhere problems of money and politics.

Secretary Dulles announced some time ago he favored reducing European aid in favor of Asia. This, plus belligerent Senate demands to cut all aid, worries European member nations who know that without American defense orders their own economies will sag dangerously.

Bonn Stalls; NATO Votes 885 Million

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS, April 24 (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Council voted a whopping military equipment program today at the same hour that the West German upper house dealt the whole defense buildup a shaking blow.

Spurred by Secretary of State Dulles and other members of the U. S. delegation, the ministers of the NATO countries first declared in a formal resolution that the six-nation European Army Treaty must be ratified as the best means of bringing German troops into Western defense.

Then it voted a four-year, 885 million dollar budget to build airports, a radar warning system and other installations, and to enlarge supply ports.

But the wires brought news from Bonn, capital of West Germany, which threw the various NATO delegations into silence.

West Germany, the white hope of the American supporters of the European army plan, had suddenly thrown a wrench into the machinery. The upper house, the Bundesrat, voted 20 to 18 to demand high court approval of the European Army Treaty before going any further with ratification.

Of the $885,000,000, $185,000,000 went for projects asked last December by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the supreme commander in Europe, but which were temporarily held up.

Bandit Drops $141,000, Trapped Mate Suicide

ST. LOUIS, April 24—(INS)—A Chicago bandit killed himself, and two of his companions and a policeman were wounded in a gun battle today when police interrupted a daring daylight holdup at the Southwest Bank of St. Louis.

In a second St. Louis bank holdup today, two other bandits armed with sawed-off shotguns escaped with $1,100 in cash.

The fourth participant in the Southwest Bank robbery escaped as police arrived. He left behind a canvas satchel containing $141,000 in currency his companions had gathered before the alarm was sounded.

An alert telephone repairman installing a switchboard cut into a direct line to tip police who arrived while the robbery was in progress, trapping the bandits.

Police Cpl. Robert Heiz, 41, first officer on the scene, suffered head wounds as he sought to halt the bandits before more than 100 uniformed and plainclothes officers arrived and surrounded the building.

Officers barricaded themselves behind cars as they opened fire, first with tear gas bombs. The robbers returned the fire and more than 40 shots were exchanged, terrifying employees and customers inside the bank.

The dead man, who shot himself under the chin as officers closed in, carried papers identifying him as Frank (Pete) Vito of Chicago.

The wounded robbers told police they were John W. Frederick, 50, and William Scholl (alias William Collins), both of Chicago.

Churchill Is Knighted By Elizabeth

WINDSOR, England, April 24—(AP) Queen Elizabeth II knighted Winston Churchill tonight, elevating him to the highest order of British chivalry with the touch of a golden sword.

The British Prime Minister, 78, knelt before his young Queen in the drawing room at Windsor Castle to receive—for his decades of service to the empire and the throne—the accolade he declined from her father, King George VI.

"Arise, Sir Winston," she said.

He rose as the Right Honorable Sir Winston Churchill, Knight of the Garter, this half-American grandson of the seventh Duke of Marlborough.

As a knight, he gains nothing substantial except the title "Sir" and the right to walk ahead of plain misters and knights of lesser rank on formal occasions. As Prime Minister, he already outranks other Knights of the Garter in this "order of precedence."

But investiture with the Order of the Garter, founded by King Edward III six centuries ago, was the greatest honor Churchill could accept without giving up his cherished role as Conservative leader in the rough and tumble politics in the House of Commons.

A peerage, with any title from baron to duke and the resultant membership in the House of Lords would have debarred him from the lower house and probably from his job as Prime Minister.

Broad Industrial Base Poised For War Seen Plan of Ike Regime

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has virtually agreed on the policy of building a broad industrial base for mobilization, it was reported today, despite Secretary of Defense Wilson's desire for greater emphasis on actual arms production.

President Eisenhower's mobilization board, including six Cabinet officers and Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming, was said to have approved tentatively a statement endorsing the present policy of developing plant capacity for a possible future emergency.

Whether President Eisenhower would make the statement public was uncertain. In any case, it is intended to provide guidance for administration witnesses testifying before congressional committees.

The mobilization issue has been debated behind scenes since the disclosure, three weeks ago, that Wilson believed too much money and resources were being devoted to standby plants and equipment for possible future use and too little for actual manufacture of weapons.

The statement now drafted, informed persons said, makes a bow to Wilson by calling for as great a rate of military production as is consistent with keeping armament production in "balance."

In general, however, it adheres to the policy of a "broad industrial base" as advocated by former Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett and the Office of Defense Mobilization. It fixes three major goals, as follows:

1. The planning of the largest balanced military program that is feasible from the standpoint of industrial capacity.

2. Creation of an industrial potential which can support a military program sufficient to cope with a full war emergency.

3. Economy in the expenditure of resources and in the immediate burden which industry is called on to carry.

If these aims are achieved, the statement reportedly adds, the country will be less dependent on the accumulation of large stocks of planes, tanks and guns to carry on a war during the period between full mobilization and the conversion of industry to war production.

Rail Union Votes, Hints Full Strike

Would Paralyze Southern System

The Southern Railway's first major strike since the national railroad strike in 1946 probably will be the outcome of Friday night's closed meeting of the local lodge of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, an official of the lodge told a Constitution reporter.

S. A. Scarborough, lodge president, and L. E. Chester, deputy president of the brotherhood, refused to comment on the possibility of a strike, which would involve the brotherhood's 3,500 members and tie up operations of the entire Southern Railway system.

But a lodge official, who asked that his name not be disclosed, indicated that members of two of the lodge's three work shifts voted for a strike at a meeting Friday morning. He said the night meeting of the third work shift was following suit.

"UNFAIR DEMOTION"

The strike threat is an outgrowth of a four-day "wildcat strike" by 200 switchmen on April 20. They quit work, they said, because of the "unfair demotion" of Trainmaster H. M. Clyburn. The walkout was branded "unauthorized" by Chester and was settled a week ago with no change in Clyburn's status.

Asked if the union membership is still perturbed over the incident, Chester told a reporter: "I'll leave that up to you to decide."

A union spokesman was quoted earlier Friday as saying that the brotherhood, including switchmen, baggagemen, flagmen and others would quit work within "a few weeks" if company officials do not move to meet their demands.

"STILL UNSETTLED"

Prior to Friday night's meeting, Scarborough emphasized that grievances charged to the railroad in last week's walkout are still unsettled. He said the issues before the brotherhood are the same as they were when the switchmen went back to work.

Scarborough, told that a railroad spokesman in Washington had said last week's incident was "closed in our books," commented:

"I hope they say their prayers, too."

Ike Talk Lags On Germany, Pravda Says

MOSCOW, April 25—(UP)—Pravda, official newspaper of the Communist Party, said today President Eisenhower's peace address lacked a foundation for solution of the German problem and ignored the Potsdam agreement.

The newspaper devoted its entire front page to Mr. Eisenhower's speech of April 16, answering his statement point-by-point, and carrying the entire text.

Pravda said the Soviet people always had supported all moves to achieve a peace agreement in Korea, but added that it was necessary to conclude a peace treaty with Germany as quickly as possible and provide for the evacuation of all foreign troops from Germany.

It was the first detailed Soviet reaction to the President's major policy speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington.

4th Georgia Soldier, 16 Others Released; Reds Extend Trade

Solons Fear Probe Perils Those Held

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—Worried congressional leaders are trying to stave off any immediate inquiry of Korean atrocities for fear it would lead to reprisals against American GIs still in Red prison camps, it was learned today.

The congressional chiefs were said to have adopted this policy on the advice of top military officials who warned that past publicity on atrocities usually has led to more of the same. There was some feeling too much has been said already.

In addition to the danger of new atrocities, some sources said an investigation of the reports, made by returning wounded and sick Allied prisoners, would only add to the anxiety of relatives and friends of men listed as missing and captured in Korea.

Meanwhile, the 62nd continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution called on the administration to "deal summarily" with the reported atrocities, which were said to include new "Bataan death marches," brutality and systematic starvation.

The DAR specifically urged an investigation to determine if there had been violation of the Geneva Convention prescribing the treatment of war prisoners.

The House rules committee has been under pressure to approve one of several resolutions calling for a special investigation of Communist brutalities in Korea. Demands for action have increased in the wake of the fresh atrocity reports.

Pvt. Moreland Tells Parents He's on Way

Pvt. William G. Moreland, Atlanta GI released by the Reds in Korea, told his mother by telephone from Tokyo Friday night he is "in pretty good shape, except for his nerves and stomach."

One of 289 prisoners who survived an inhuman "death march," Pvt. Moreland also talked with his father, Harvey L. Moreland, at the Moreland home at 1857 Volberg St., N. W.

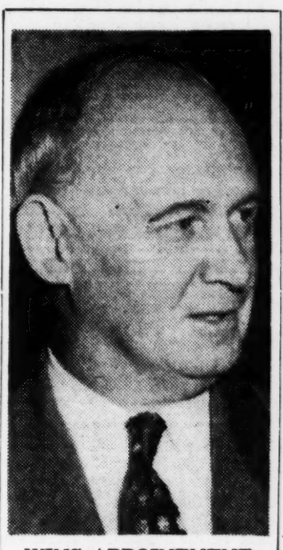

He told his father he was "in a hurry to get home," and that it was "wonderful to have good food and a good bed once more."

The parents said their son told them he will spend a few days in a Tokyo hospital and then be flown to California. They hope he will be sent to Fort McPherson for further medical treatment.

Asked if he were hurt, Pvt. Moreland evaded a direct answer by saying, "I'll write about that later." Mr. and Mrs. Moreland said they "had a feeling" he might be wounded but did not want to worry them.

Meanwhile, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Philpott of Hogansville, parents of the first Georgia GI released, said they received a telegram from Far East Commander in Chief Gen. Mark Clark which read:

"Joining in your present thanksgiving that son Pfc. R. Floyd Philpott has been recovered from the enemy and soon will be with you."

WINS APPOINTMENT
C. B. Funderburk

Funderburk Heads Crop Insurance

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Constitution Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 24—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today announced the appointment of C. B. Funderburk of Atlanta as acting manager of the Crop Insurance Corporation. One of the top jobs in the department below the cabinet level.

The Atlanta man, who will receive an annual salary of $14,800, is now general manager of the Cotton States Mutual Insurance Company and long has been associated with various agricultural activities in the South. Officials in announcing the appointment said that he would presumably be changed from his "acting" status to permanent manager of the agency later on.

922 COUNTIES

The Crop Insurance Corporation has jurisdiction over the extensive program of issuing government insurance to farmers on major crops, covering some 922 counties over the country. Upwards of $400 million is issued in such insurance annually.

Funderburk will take over his new departmental duties immediately, it was said. He was here earlier in the week for a conference with Benson but has returned to Atlanta to wind up his affairs before moving to Washington.

BORN IN AUGUSTA

The new Crop Insurance Corporation head is a native Georgian, having been born at Augusta in 1899. He was educated in the public schools of Rome and is a graduate of Georgia Tech.

Before going with the Cotton States Mutual Insurance Company in 1941 he served from 1929 to 1933 with the American Cotton Co-operative Association at New Orleans. Later he was with the Alabama Farm Bureau. Since 1933 he has been treasurer of the Cotton Producers Association at Atlanta and has also served as a director of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies. In 1946 he was named as a member of the transportation advisory committee set up by the Department of Agriculture, serving on this group for three years. Benson said his appointment would become effective immediately.

Covington Medic Gains Freedom

The fourth prisoner of war from Georgia was released by the Communists in Korea Saturday morning.

He was listed as Sgt. James F. Daniel, medical corpsman, son of Robert L. Daniel of Rte. 5, Covington.

Previously, Pvt. William Moreland of Atlanta, Pvt. William R. Brock Jr. of Rome and Pvt. Robert F. Philpott of Hogansville were released by the Reds.

Sergeant Daniel was among 17 sick and wounded Americans returned Saturday to freedom from the Communist stockades of North Korea, swelling the total of U. S. repatriates in six days to 136 men from all branches of the service.

The Communists extended the current exchange of sick and wounded prisoners Saturday. They announced 84 additional Allied prisoners—including 13 Americans—would be freed Sunday.

The 84 prisoners will make a total of 684 troops freed. The Reds did not indicate whether they planned to extend the exchange beyond Sunday.

The Reds released four Britons, four Turks and 25 South Koreans Saturday.

Fifty South Koreans were to be released later Saturday morning, completing the day's quota of 100.

The first American returned in

Sgt. Daniel's Parents Lead 'Shout Party'

"We had a shouting party. We just shouted so you could hear it all over the place."

That was the way Robert L. Daniel, father of Sgt. James F. Daniel, latest Georgian released by the Reds, described reaction to the news when friends who had heard it on television rushed to the Daniel home at Covington.

Daniel said the soldier's mother, Mrs. Veneva Daniel, was "proud and overjoyed," saying it was "just like having a baby taken away and then given back."

The father said another son, Sgt. Harold E. Daniel, is expected home soon from Korea, where he has served a year. The Daniels have 14 children, three daughters and 11 sons.

James wrote his parents once that he planed on picking out a place near Covington, "if I ever get out of here," and start a catle farm.

Sgt. James Daniel's wife, the former Miss Bernice Miller of Jackson, Miss., is now living with their two children, Bob, 3, and Shirley Ann, 7, at Alameda, Calif. Sgt. Daniel is a World War II veteran, and re-enlisted two years ago. He was captured shortly after arrival in Korea, his father said.

Sniper Strikes Again; Bullet Penetrates Car

Atlanta's mystery sniper struck again Friday night, shooting a hole into a car parked in front of 800 Myrtle St., N. E., Detectives L. A. Veal and A. W. Wilson reported.

Garvin B. Buice, owner of the vehicle, said the hole appeared to have been made by a bullet fired from a .38-caliber weapon.

No clues to the gunman have been found, police said. His first strikes came during pre-dawn hours Thursday when bullets were fired at windows of Spring Street Motors, 322 Spring St., N. W., Bim's Liquor Store, 1027 Marietta St., N. W., and Southern States Chemical Co., 1061 W. Marietta St., N. W.

None has been injured since the phantom gunman appeared, but police said they feared some one may be killed or injured if the sniper continues his activities.

Buice discovered damage to his car when he went to enter the vehicle. He could give police no reason why his automobile was chosen as a target.

Bomb-China Threat Urged by M'Arthur

George, Russell Disapprove Of Such Extreme Measures

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—General MacArthur declared today that a threat to bomb Communist China's industrial centers and supply lines to Russia would end the Korean war and "might well" lead to a general cold-war settlement.

Coupling his proposal with a bitter denunciation of what he called the Truman administration's "lack of will for victory," MacArthur said Russia would "dread" risking a "Red China debacle" that would threaten the Kremlin's hold on all of Asia.

Explaining his bombing theory, he said "A warning of action of this sort provides the leverage to induce the Soviet to bring the Korean struggle to an end without further bloodshed."

ANSWERS ON AMMO

The former Far Eastern commander laid down his end-the-war plan in a bristling, 1,500-word letter to Senator Byrd (Dem., Va.), who had asked him about Korean ammunition shortages. MacArthur replied that the ammunition problem was handled "solely by Washington authorities."

The White House had "no comment" on the general's bomb-China proposal.

Members of Congress received MacArthur's plan with caution, while British diplomatic quarters regarded it sourly. Many members of the United Nations, including Britain, fear that an attack on Red China would touch off World War III.

GEORGE, RUSSELL COMMENT

Senator George (Dem., Ga.), a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, appeared to sum up congressional feelings when he urged caution against doing anything that "might throw away the apparently limited progress" toward a truce.

Senator Russell (Dem., Ga.), former chairman of the armed services committee, had this to say:

"I agree we need a new approach on the Korean War but I'm not willing to go that far."

Russell presided at lengthy hearings on former President Truman's ouster of MacArthur from his Far East command two years ago for publicly espousing a more militant campaign against the Red Chinese.

Bastion Fall Perils Laos' Old Capital

HANOI, Indochina, April 24—(AP)—The last major defense bastion on the road to Laos' ancient capital of Luang Prabang crumbled today, and two Communist spearheads thrust within 60 miles of the historic city.

A third Communist column, skirting the French "hedgehog" on Jarres Plain, was within 70 miles of the modern capital at Vientaine. But Luang Prabang, home of Laos' king, appeared to be the Red invaders' primary objective.

French officers supervised the hasty erection of defenses on the outskirts of the ancient city, anticipating a large-scale attack within three or four days.

No heavy fighting was reported today. A Red holding force was peppering the Jarres perimeter with mortar fire, and French spokesmen here said about 20 Communists were killed in patrol clashes.

French fighter pilots, returning from strafing attacks on Red supply bases drifting down the Nam Hou River toward Luang Prabang, said the major outpost of Muong Ngoi—65 miles north of the city—and a number of lesser positions in the area were deserted and in flames.

Miracle Won't Nip Cold War, Ike Asserts

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—President Eisenhower said today the cold war cannot be ended by any "miraculous overnight accomplishment."

The President added—in a remark which the White House later struck out of the official transcript of his talk—that it probably is a good thing there won't be such spectacular development.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters he deleted Eisenhower's ad lib comment because it had no particular significance and might be confusing.

Apparently the President's meaning was that there can be no durable peace until firm foundations have been established.

Eisenhower spoke extemporaneously to 1,200 Republican women at a luncheon winding up their two-day conference, held to organize party leaders for the 1954 congressional election.

He went on to say that "trends must be set up, doctrines must be officially instilled, truth must be held up patiently before the world" until it is generally understood that decency and justice are more important than greed and power backed up by military strength.

Eisenhower said the general desire for peace is opposed only by "misguided governments" which believe that "only when they are surrounded by enemies may they keep their positions of power, or governments who because of their lack of understanding believe that every other government shares their own thirst for power."

Teitelbaum 'Fix' Report Recalled by Grunewald

WASHINGTON, April 24—(INS)—Henry W. Grunewald testified today he once told tax officials of a "grapevine" report that a fix was being tried in the tax case of a Chicago attorney who has since claimed he was the victim of an attempted shakedown.

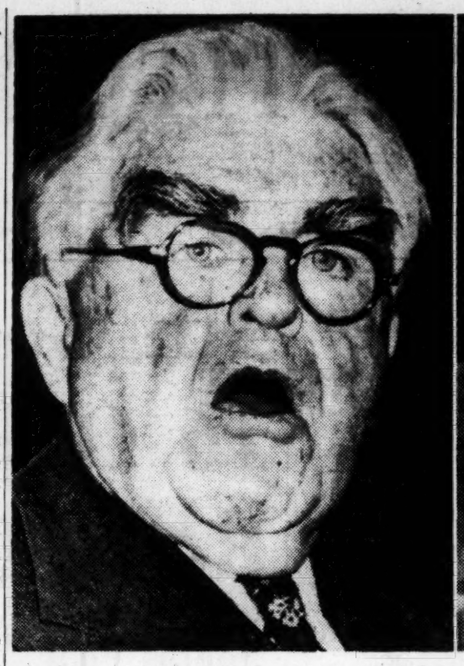

But "The Dutchman" denied to House investigators he had any part in what one-time Capone "mouthpiece" Abraham Teitelbaum said was an attempt to shake him down for $500,000.

Teitelbaum testified 17 months ago that two men he identified as Frank Nathan and Bert K. Naster told him they could fix his tax troubles through a "clique" of government officials, but it would cost him $500,000 to stay out of jail.

All the officials mentioned as part of the "clique" denied the charges. So did Naster and Nathan. A grand jury has investigated Teitelbaum's story but there have been no indictments.

Grunewald testified he told former Internal Revenue Bureau chief counsel Charles Oliphant at lunch one day he understood "from the grapevine" an attempt was being made to fix the Teitelbaum case.

Grunewald told his story to a House ways and means subcommittee, which placed the date of the luncheon as July 23, 1951, and said it was that same afternoon Oliphant reversed previous decisions and took steps to speed prosecution of Teitelbaum.

JOHN L. LEWIS, "ECONOMIC THRALL" SEN. TAFT, "SON OF PRIVILEGE"

End Labor Laws, Lewis Asks, Calling Taft Son of Privilege

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—John L. Lewis called today for an end to all labor laws and assailed Senate Republican Leader Taft as a "son of privilege" who "would fix a collar around my neck."

Unleashing his famous acid oratory before the Senate labor committee, the United Mine Workers president urged Congress to free wage bargaining from the "enervating and destructive influence of government by injunction."

Taft, coauthor of the Taft-Hartley labor law which Lewis roundly denounced, professed a "great deal of sympathy" for Lewis' idea. But he questioned whether it was practical and whether it might mean a "return to the law of the jungle."

"BETTER BASE"

Lewis said it would not because labor organizations are "vastly superior now," have "a better base on which to stand" and "there is a more enlightened public opinion."

Taft was affable and smiling as Lewis unveiled his startling proposal, first such to come from a major union leader.

"SON OF PRIVILEGE"

"Taft can't understand the problems of the workingman," Lewis said. "He's a son of privilege. He was born in luxury. He believes in the injunction. So did his father (the late President William Howard Taft). He inherited the tendency that the rich have to oppress and exploit the poor . . ."

Pounding on the table, Lewis thundered:

"There is no virtue in the Taft-Hartley law. There are a few lines that say labor has the right to organize and 70 pages that follow that dare you to try. It bleeds labor organizations and fattens lawyers.

"I resent the Tafts of this country. I resent the fact that they would fix a collar around my neck and make me an economic thrall."

PERFECT PRESIDENT

In addition to calling for an end to all labor laws, Lewis cracked that the nation "might have had a perfect president but we didn't elect him last time." He also said he did not think a strike in any industry will ever do "irreparable harm" to the nation.

While Lewis was testifying before the Senate committee his old antagonist, President Joseph E. Moody of the Southern Coal Producers' Association, was urging the House labor committee to hold up major changes in the Taft-Hartley law to see how it works under a GOP administration.

Moody praised the law for having "stopped a trend . . . of government aid and support of labor unions . . . that could only have ended in confiscation of the (coal) industry and nationalization." But he said it has been a victim of "reluctant administrations" and no one knows how effective it would be if administered by "persons who wanted it to work."

Planes Crash While Fueling Aloft; 6 Die

New York Times-News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., April 24—Six lives were lost here tonight in a collision between two air force planes aloft. The planes were engaged in refueling, with a F-84 jet fighter taking fuel from an air force B-29.

The fighter crashed in dense woods on the south shore of Peconic Bay. The bomber dived into the bay waters with a tremendous splash, roughly three to four miles south of Robins Island in Peconic Bay.

A wide area of oil slick formed on the waters before volunteer firemen and other rescue parties put out from shore. The large plane sank.

The passengers in the B-29 included the pilot, co-pilot and three other crew men. The sixth victim was the jet pilot. Their names were not disclosed pending recovery of their bodies and notification of next of kin.

Coast Guard and air force rescue planes patrolled over the bay area after dark with only scant hope of finding bomber crewmen living.

By RICHARD G. HARRIS

NEW YORK, April 24—(UP)—The newspaper editorial page is a potent force for good in any community in spite of the belittling attacks politicians have made on it in recent years, George C. Biggers, new president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said today.

Biggers, president of Atlanta Newspapers, Inc., publishing The Journal and The Constitution, commented on the editorial page's force and other topics. He was elected ANPA president at the organization's 67th annual convention, succeeding Charles F. McCahill, general manager of the Cleveland (Ohio) News.

"A lot of politicians have charged in recent years that the newspapers have lost their power," Biggers said. "I will not submit that the editorial page has lost its force. Any time a newspaper has become thoroughly aroused on any issue in its community, you can rest assured the power and weight of that paper's editorial page has been felt."

"ACTIVE SUPPORT"

Biggers said that many things for the civic, social, moral and political betterment of the people occur constantly in communities all across the country, and "many of them could not have happened without the active support of the newspaper of the community."

"I don't mean to say that newspapers do the thinking for the people; they don't," Biggers said. "But on the vital issues they still carry their weight."

Biggers said he saw no immediate danger to the freedom of the press in this country. He said in the last few years there has been "almost a wave of punitive legislation in the various states directed against the newspapers."

"FAITH IN THE PEOPLE"

"But that has been largely engineered by politicians bent on slowing down criticism from the newspapers," he said. "There is no real and present danger to the freedom of the press here, because the people themselves would not stand for it. I have faith in the people and in their understanding that press freedom is their own right and is to be cherished."

Biggers' comments on other topics:

He said the "first 100 days" of the Eisenhower administration has been a success and has had the approval of the people as a whole.

There is no merit to the charge of a "one-party" press in this country, he said, and he pointed out that the charge itself was published on the front page of nearly every newspaper.

Some publishers don't like to think of television as a competitor, as years ago they reluctantly accepted radio, he observed, "but I think television is a good cockleburr under newspapers' saddle and will make us do a better job."

HOW TO SAVE DAYLIGHT

Time confusion aplenty will visit the U. S. and 90 other countries as Daylight Saving Time comes on us again, warns Bob Considine on Page 4.

Indictment Names Judge In Johnson

By KEELER McCARTNEY
Constitution Staff Writer

SWAINSBORO, April 24—An Emanuel County Grand Jury has indicted Judge E. Fluker Tarbutton of the City Court of Wrightsville in neighboring Johnson County on charges of larceny in connection with the purchase and sale of an automobile declared to have been stolen.

Emanuel Sheriff Peyton Yeomans said bond of $2,000 has been posted for Judge Tarbutton on the charge and that trial is scheduled during the July term of Emanuel Superior Court.

EX-CAR DEALER

Judge Tarbutton, a former automobile dealer, said he had not been served with a warrant in connection with the indictment, returned this week. However, he said he understood friends in Wrightsville had posted the bond.

The indictment charges Judge Tarbutton with selling an automobile, which it says had been reported stolen from Mrs. Carolyn Creech of Swainsboro during October, 1950.

Police Chief Walter Lamb of Swainsboro said the auto was stolen from the parking lot of the First Baptist Church in Swainsboro. Lamb and Sol. Gen. W. H. Lanier of the Middle Georgia Circuit said officers were unable to locate the man who Judge Tarbutton said sold him the car.

RIDICULOUS CHARGE

Judge Tarbutton, who took office on Jan. 1, branded the incident "preposterous." He said he was employed by a Dublin automobile concern at the time and obtained the car from a man named Jimmy Lee Dixon, who was employed by a contracting firm in Johnson County.

Two Wrightsville residents, E. A. Douglas and Bones Hammond, rode from Wrightsville to Dublin with Dixon the day the trade was made, Judge Tarbutton said. He added Danny Todd, a notary public in Dublin, notarized the papers in the transaction.

"My wife drove the car for about 10 days and made at least one trip to Swainsboro in it," the judge said." I sold it to Will Brantley here in Johnson County—one of my best friends—and eventually made $10 on the deal."

New Jersey's Guns Shatter Songjin Port

TOKYO, Saturday, April 25—(AP)—The 45,000-ton American battleship New Jersey hurled one-ton shells into the North Korean port of Songjin in an eight-hour sea bombardment—one of the heaviest of the war, it was announced today.

The Seventh Fleet in a communique said that Friday's "raid on Songjin is believed to have been the most destructive of the war. . . .

"The New Jersey's heavy guns knocked out three railway bridges, almost 400 yards of track, a tunnel facing, left two railway bridges unoperational and set off numerous secondary explosions in supply and ammunition storage areas."

The ship fired almost continuous salvoes throughout the day from its 16 and five-inch batteries. Landslides covered most of the port and railway center after the bombardment.

Songjin is 100 miles from the Russian border.

Ground fighting flared northeast of Chorwon when Allied troops beat off an artillery-supported Red attack on an outpost.

In the air war a California jet pilot shot down a Soviet-built MIG Jet fighter and damaged another in a zooming dogfight over Northwest Korea Friday to become America's fifth double-ace of the Korean War.

Selective Service Sets College Test

WASHINGTON, April 23—(UP)—Selective Service today scheduled another college qualification test May 21 for students who have not yet taken the examination.

Director Lewis B. Hershey said the test was planned mainly for men who missed the one given today because of illness or other unavoidable reason. However, all qualified students who have not taken the test may take it next month, he said.

The U. S. Bureau of Indian Affairs has contracts with 30 county health departments to provide public health service to Indians.

Worth Hospital Director Has Multi-Duty Position

This is another in a series of on-the-spot reports on Georgia's Hill-Burton hospitals in operation a year or more.

By KATHERINE BARNWELL
Constitution Staff Writer

SYLVESTER, April 24—The 29-bed Worth County Hospital here is short one registered nurse, but the slim, blonde administrator of the hospital has added bed-side nursing to her various other duties.

Miss Ruth Perry not only directs the hospital's business office but also serves as chief nurse, nursery supervisor, dietician and anesthetist.

"Anybody know where we can get a registered nurse?" she asks.

Miss Perry (who, doctors here believe, would win a beauty contest among Georgia hospital administrators) said it's "hard to get nurses to come to a small town."

24-HOUR DUTY

Since the hospital has only two other registered nurses—and one shift is without a registered nurse—Miss Perry says she is "on call 24 hours a day."

"I live across the street from the hospital," she explained, "and if there's an emergency of any kind, I rush over."

The Worth County Hospital, which was built with federal, state and local funds totaling $293,113, opened Feb. 19, 1950. It was one of the first hospitals in Georgia built under the Hill-Burton Act.

And hospital officials believe it is "one of the busiest and most successful."

T. M. Purdom, secretary-treasurer of the hospital authority, said he "can't see how we ever got along without it."

He pointed out the hospital is operating "in the black," and he attributed its financial success to "efficient management."

"Miss Perry knows how to cut corners," he said.

Miss Perry said operating expenses last year totaled $63,053—and operating income totaled $64,299.

She said Worth County does not contribute directly to the hospital but does provide funds from a three-mill tax for the care of the indigent. She estimated 12 to 15 per cent of the patients are charity cases.

Miss Perry said the people of the county are using the hospital "more and more."

PATIENT INCREASE

She noted an average of 34 per cent of the beds were occupied the first year. The average rose to about 47 per cent the second year—and it is now more than 50 per cent.

Sylvester had no previous hospital facilities. People here went to Albany, Tifton or Moultrie for hospitalization. Now the Worth County Hospital occasionally gets patients from these larger towns.

Six local doctors are on the active staff, and specialists in nearby towns serve as consultants. At least one of the physicians came to Sylvester to practice because of the new hospital facilities.

Dr. H. G. Davis, a member of the staff, said the hospital is very well equipped. He said a portable X-ray machine and a fracture table are needed—but he stressed the equipment generally compares favorably with that in much larger hospitals.

Dr. Davis said the people of this community undoubtedly are getting better medical care because of the hospital—"and cheaper medical care because they don't have to leave home to get it."

The first head of the medical staff and chairman of the hospital authority, Dr. G. W. Sumner, died recently. Dr. Sumner was given much of the credit by local citizens for getting the hospital here. His successor has not yet been named.

In addition to three registered nurses, the hospital has nine practical nurses. Everett Collier serves as both laboratory and X-ray technician, and he operates the electrocardiograph.

The hospital's rates range from $5 a day for a ward bed to $12 a day for a private room and bath. It has 10 beds for Negro patients. More than half the patients have some kind of hospitalization insurance.

Mayor Fred Deariso of Sylvester said the hospital is "improving all the time."

"There were a few complaints about it at first," he said, "but people seem to be satisfied now. Those who go there say they get good service. It's a fine little hospital."

Fired Patrol Mechanics Eligible To Be Rehired

The State Merit Board has cleared the way for reemployment of two mechanics of the State Patrol who were discharged shortly before a change in the patrol's leadership.

Merit System Director E. L. Swain said Friday the board had "removed the prejudice" from job consideration for James A. Mathis of Roswell and Charles Flowers of Stone Mountain, and placed them on the list for eligible employment.

The board found no valid reason for the firing of these mechanics by George Wilson, who was director of public safety at the time. Shortly after firing them, Wilson resigned. Then the two appealed to the merit board.

NO VACANCIES

Col. W. C. Dominy, new director of public safety, said Friday he had no vacancies in the department at present, but would consider Flowers and Mathis when jobs do open. He said the garage is operating with a reduced staff, with the patrol getting more work done by private mechanics.

The merit board also agreed to hear an appeal in May from Claude E. Caldwell, classifications chief and a staff member for more than nine years, who lost his job in the board's orders to cut its payroll in half.

The board has rejected Caldwell's request for reconsideration of the abolition of his post. However, it agreed to hear his appeal for another job in the department.

Caldwell contended he has more service points than others in the department who were not dismissed.

In a stormy meeting Thursday, Stanley Brooks of McRae, a board member, admitted that he participated in the firing of "key" employees of the department.

Maddox L. Purvis, deputy director and a veteran of 10 years with the department, was among those dismissed.

Cook Barwick of Atlanta, board member, sought unsuccessfully to have a study made of the firings in the department "and how they were accomplished." Chairman Randall Walker of Jesup supported Brooks in killing this investigation.

Wood Urges Facilities for Psychiatrics

Every general hospital in Georgia, even the smaller Hill-Burton hospitals in rural communities, should have a few beds for psychiatric patients, Dr. Hugh Wood, dean of Emory University Medical School, said Friday.

Quick, intensive treatment in a general hospital would restore numbers of mentally ill persons to their homes and jobs and cut down on the number needing prolonged hospitalization at Milledgeville, Dr. Wood said.

The Emory physician spoke to sponsors of the Georgia Association for Mental Health drive for funds which opens May 8. The campaign, first ever staged here for mental health, has a goal of $100,000.

Dr. Napier Burson, who also addressed the group, listed as other objects of the campaign:

1. Mental health clinics for children and adults.
2. Public understanding of early symptoms of mental illness.
3. Establishment of community mental health associations.
4. Research.
5. Training of adequate personnel.

State Treasurer George Hamilton will serve as treasurer of the campaign.

Education Board Names Heffernan

Paul Heffernan, head of design at Georgia Tech's School of Architecture, has been hired by the Southern Regional Education Board to act as consultant in architectural education.

Heffernan will work with William J. McGlothlin, the board's consultant for professional programs in guiding an exploratory study of regional co-operation in architectural education.

Heffernan came to Tech in 1938, following a three-year scholarship stay in Paris, where he studied architectural design at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts.

He attended Iowa State College, then received the master of architecture degree at Harvard. He is the recipient of the Conde Nast award among others.

MacArthur Enters The Scene Again

The administration seems to be moving as rapidly as possible to develop the thesis of President Eisenhower's major foreign policy address. It will be a long and slow process but the country is united more or less behind the "step-by-step" approach to world peace.

However, there are those who will never stop trying to muddy the waters through placing every obstruction possible in the way of any consistent policy. General MacArthur enters the picture again. He is sticking with his "go-it-alone" doctrine that the previous administration rejected, as has the Eisenhower leadership.

The latter has decided, too, that it is better to work toward an eventual settlement through strength and diplomacy than to plunge the earth into worldwide atomic war—as much as it tries our patience to be calm. The MacArthur proposal to issue an ultimatum to China and Russia means just what it did a year ago—an invitation to world war.

In this era of atomic warfare, the latter course is an invitation to suicide. The Russians know that, too. We believe that our objectives can be reached without it through application of the other weapons we are learning to use—education, trade, and development of resources, and the forum of the United Nations instead of force alone.

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire says that the most significant accomplishment of the President's first three months in office "is that the United States has regained the offensive which has so long been held by the Communists." For the time being that appears to be true and we hope it remains so.

The President and Senator Bridges should remember, however, that it was the death of Josef Stalin that gave us our present opportunity. How the President and Congress use that opportunity will determine whether we keep the initiative that the struggle for power within the Soviet Union has made possible. Neither Democrats nor Republicans killed Joe Stalin.

A case in point is illustrated by the President's foreign policy speech itself. The sentiments expressed were nonpartisan but most certainly do not suit the right wing of the GOP, of which MacArthur is the most eloquent spokesman. That group firmly believes in applying an "unconditional surrender" policy to the Iron Curtain bloc—a policy that benefited the Russians much more than it did the free world in World War II. As a result of our giving the Japs and Germans no alternative but to fight to the end, Russia gained Manchuria and Eastern Europe.

Secretary Dulles' and other GOP leaders' attempts to make the President's speech a partisan affair and to temper it to suit the isolationist wing of the party will weaken if not destroy its effect. So will the MacArthur blast. The net result of such actions is to confuse our allies and to make a realistic approach to settlement of differences all the more difficult.

George C. Biggers Is Tops in Profession

After three years of observation and participation in the operation of two separate newspapers with production consolidated to meet greatly increased costs, it is entirely logical that those of us on The Atlanta Constitution are in a better position to evaluate George C. Biggers, president of Atlanta Newspapers, Inc., than those who have known and worked with him for a long span of years, and whose acquaintanceship was gradual.

Since he now has been elected president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, the highest honor the profession can bestow on a publisher, we find opportunity to say that in our estimation he is the ablest all-around newspaperman in the business.

One of the weak spots in the newspaper field, in our opinion, is that too many of them are being published by men who came up from the business side and, therefore, have no experience, and little interest, in the news and editorial departments of their newspapers. They forget that while a balanced ledger is necessary to any newspaper, and especially so to one which would seek to offer leadership and service, it is also a fact that without a good news and editorial product their papers will come to a standstill and, eventually, wither away. George C. Biggers is an astonishingly top-flight news man, as well as one unusually able in advertising and management.

This gives us opportunity to go ahead and say something else. No newspaper can rise above the integrity of its ownership, whether it be one newspaper or more. A single newspaper possesses no virtue that two or four or more newspapers may not also own.

In saluting the new president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, we on The Constitution can say without reservation that he reflects great and inspiring integrity of ownership. All we have ever had from him, therefore, is assistance and encouragement to become a constantly improving newspaper which may, thereby, better serve the best interests of the city, state and region. That is an additional reason why we regard him as the ablest newspaperman we know.

Just Who Is Hostile, Mr. Speaker Martin?

House Speaker Joe Martin, addressing a Republican rally in Washington, is quoted as saying that the number one task for the party is the election of a Republican Senate and House in 1954.

He added that he believes America wants to see Ike get a chance to finish the job that he has undertaken. "I know," he said, "America doesn't want to tie one hand behind his back by giving him a hostile Congress to deal with in 1955 and 1956."

The question the speaker raises is intriguing. What does he mean by "hostile"? Some of Ike's greatest troubles and headaches to date have come from members of his own party. His policies, we are finding out, run into some of their strongest opposition within his own GOP Congress. Of the major legislative recommendations he has made to date, in fact, only about three have yet received an affirmative vote.

The President has found some of his strongest support for some major objectives—particularly in the field of foreign policy—from within the ranks of the Democrats. This is likely to continue to be true. Support of the armed forces, "trade not aid," and many other international policies actually depend on the Democrats.

In the domestic field, some of the actions in the past week also indicate that Ike must depend on the Democrats if his objectives are to be achieved.

Looking at it from the standpoint of the executive, we doubt if Ike is as concerned about a "hostile" Congress as is Mr. Martin. It is quite possible that a big GOP House and Senate majority would prove much more "hostile" than the Democrats.

If Golf Is, Truly, An Humbling Game—

There is an old Scottish axiom that "golf is an humbling game."

And, in a typically fine feature story on Thursday, James (Scotty) Reston of The New York Times, whose dispatches this newspaper carries, warned President Eisenhower against playing golf in an effort to find solace to the anguish of his job.

"Golf," Mr. Reston wrote, "never was and never will be a solace to anything. It is an anguish in itself; a seductive, infuriating device invented by the Calvinistic Scots as a punishment for man's sins."

If both these be true, the axiom and the Reston analysis, we find ourselves hopefully rejoicing that Vice-President Nixon has taken up golf.

Two Safety Lessons From Tragic Accident

The tragic automobile accident which took eight lives near Jackson Sunday presents two clear-cut lessons for sober-thinking drivers.

Eight killed, five injured when two cars collided head on.

Thirteen persons in two cars—an overload of three people. That's lesson number one. Cars are designed to comfortably and safely transport five people. An overload can hamper the driver's efficiency and add weight that tends to make control of the vehicle more difficult.

Head-on crash as one car pulled out of a line of traffic and attempted to pass on a hill. Over the top came car number two. Inevitable results: head-on crash.

Georgia highways are now marked with yellow lines to the left and right of the center white line. When the yellow line is to the right of the center line, as the driver views it, it is unsafe to pass. A good memory system to employ on this is to remember that when the yellow line is right, it is wrong to pass.

The tragic accident should be enough to indelibly imprint in the minds of all drivers these two safety lessons.

Ike's Cabinet Is On Shaky Ground

WASHINGTON—Although the Eisenhower administration is now only three months old, some speculation is already going on over who will be the first cabinet casualty. Three possibilities suggested are Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Each is being mentioned as likely to quit the cabinet for one reason or another. It may seem a bit strange but most of the talk is that Wilson, former head of the great General Motors Corp., will be the first to go. He is away on an extended inspection tour of defense works in Europe and reports have circulated that influential persons in the Pentagon are quietly paving the way for his resignation.

Air Force generals, in particular, are said to be aghast at stories attributing to Wilson plans for closing down some airplane manufacturing plants to concentrate production in a few big centers.

Secretary Weeks is under heavy fire from Congress for his action in ordering the dismissal of Dr. Allen V. Astin, director of the Bureau of Standards, which has deeply aroused scientists. An investigation of the ouster has been promised by a Senate committee and demands for a similar inquiry have come from Democrats and Republicans alike in the House.

Dulles is under attack from members of his own party for the trial balloon he set off recently regarding our plans for Formosa and the suggested division of Korea. He could find his position so disagreeable that he might want to step out.

Still a fourth possible cabinet casualty is Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, who got into trouble early in the administration by a speech critical of farm support programs.

Wilson had a brush with one of the most powerful Democratic members of the House, Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia, former chairman of the great Armed Services Committee. The incident, heretofore unpublished, may now be revealed.

After his confirmation Wilson paid a courtesy call on Vinson, having been warned that he was one of the most influential members of the House on defense matters. They chatted pleasantly until the secretary, as a parting remark, said he hoped there would be no partisan politics in the Armed Services committee's consideration of defense legislation.

Vinson reminded him with some heat that in all the years he had been chairman of the group politics had never been allowed to enter into its deliberations. It left a bad impression.

It would be unusual for a new President to have cabinet difficulties so early in his administration, but the possibility of changes within the next few months are not being discounted.

Daylight Saving Is Here to Stay

NEW YORK—Daylight Saving Time, which my mother has privately denounced as ungodly, is about to be with us again. All keen students of man's confusion, therefore, will be interested in some relevant time-saving statistics assembled with clocklike precision by the Elgin people at their Elgin, Ill., observatory.

It's tough on traveling folks, this Daylight Saving Time. From now until fall, millions of persons will be showing up one hour late or one hour early for appointments, trains, planes and relatives. Farmers will be the least affected. Chickens can't tell time.

The confusion will not be confined to the U. S. A. More than 90 countries, from Aden to the U. S. S. R., observe Daylight Saving Time. These include Kamchatka, Mauritania and St. Pierre and Miquelon.

Community-wise, people are for or ag'in Daylight Saving Time and the twain just won't meet. St. Louis goes on Daylight Saving Time while the rest of the state clings to standard. All Montana is strictly standard except Anaconda and Butte. There is a similar mixup in Washington, Oregon, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

Most of South America goes on Daylight Saving Time, but Brazil will have no part of it. French Guinea inscrutably sets its timepieces ahead 30 minutes instead of an hour. The Gold Coast of Africa has a kind of floating type of daylight saving, ranging from one hour to 20 minutes, depending on the season. Portugal and Spain sometimes have double daylight saving—two hours.

Russia experiences no confusion whatever at change-over time because it has no change-over. It's on Daylight Saving Time all year long.

Probably invented it.

Radio actress and singer named Jean Tighe is sponsor and originator of a new step in the rehabilitation of wounded and mentally ill veterans—the Veterans Hospital Radio Guild.

It's a bedside network now operating in six hospitals and the hope is that it can be expanded to all of them. In brief, the big networks and stations turn over used script to the guild and these are then narrated, acted or sung by the vets. Then piped to bedsides or the auditoriums of the wounded.

It will come as no surprise to some to learn that certain comic routines and murder mysteries are especially well performed by patients in mental hospitals, or that such activities have produced several cures in some.

Sees Grave Danger of Weakening The Nation's Social Security System

Mt. Vernon, N. Y.—There is grave danger that the Eisenhower administration may move to weaken and curtail our social security system. Mrs. Hobby, new cabinet member for welfare, has no record in favor of social security.

Eisenhower, before his nomination, went on record against Social Security and even likened it to imprisonment. In one speech he declared, "If all Americans want is security, they can go to prison."

Mrs. Hobby has promised to clear any health program with the American Medical Association which is on record against further advances in Social Security through health insurance. In addition, she has an advisory committee to suggest "improvements" in the Social Security Act.

One member, A. D. Marshall, is the employee benefit manager of General Electric who described our Social Security System as "a Hydra-headed monster."

Empty Stomachs Prevent Clear Idea of Democracy

Atlanta—For the period of time that I have been reading The Constitution, there is one editorial that stands out, "Gadgets Will Not Win the Battle of Ideas." It is not a battle of ideas, but a battle for humanity against poverty and slavery. That we are positively not trying to sell an idea of democracy we should try to show by your last quotation, "You cannot sell luxuries to people whose greatest need is for bread."

Your editorial is for the foreign element, and I don't misconstrue it, but let me rephrase it, "You cannot show democracy to the world on an empty stomach."

Milk Prices Said Lower In Tennessee and Ohio

Atlanta—My daughter moved from Tullahoma, Tenn., to Columbus, Ohio, and recently wrote us about milk prices. She thinks the milk people in Georgia are working a big racket on the consumers here. She thinks it even borders on forming a trust in violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

In Tennessee she paid 20 and 21 cents a quart for milk and in Ohio she gets a half gallon for 35 cents, and wages are higher there than here. The Georgia Power Co. was compelled to sell the transit company in Atlanta; now, why is the milk trust allowed to operate? W. M. JACKSON.

Ex-Envoy to Russia Thinks Tactics Of Probers Defeat Their Own Goals

As much as 20 years ago some of us who were concerned with Soviet affairs at posts abroad began pointing to the evidences of Communist exploitation of our civic liberties, and urging vigorous action to keep it under control. I think it fair to say that we were the pioneers in the exploration of this problem. For our pains we had the experience of being potted at from the left for many years, and accused of being a "clique of anti-Soviet reactionaries in the State department." . . .

Today I must say, again looking at it from the standpoint of one who has been on the Moscow firing line, that my greatest worry has been just the opposite, namely: that through exaggerating the dimensions of this danger, and failing to put it into proper perspective with the other problems before us, we may be creating weaknesses in our society greater than anything Communist penetration itself ever was likely to achieve.

Please do not misunderstand me. At various times there has undoubtedly been some Communist penetration into our public life, both within and without government. That is a serious and dangerous thing. My purpose is not to belittle this problem, but rather to urge that we give it its due weight, neither more nor less.

There has been much discussion about Communist penetration in our government. But people seldom attempt to appraise the actual damage done thereby to our public policy. I have been fairly close to the policymaking processes in Washington for the past six years. With many of the decisions I have been personally in accord; with others, not. But I cannot recall a single major decision of foreign policy during that period which Communist influence could have had any appreciable part in determining.

On the other hand, I have seen serious damage done in these recent years to public confidence and to governmental morale by the mishandling of our own measures to counter precisely this problem of Communist penetration. Such damage has been done by the public discussion of things that should have been handled quietly and privately. It has been done by the inability of many people to distinguish between questions of loyalty and questions of opinion. It has been done by the workings of hastily devised and not fully appropriate procedures for testing and establishing the reliability of public servants.

Finally, such damage has been done by the failure of many people to realize that what is important from the standpoint of personal loyalty is not the dusty record of actions committed 10 to 20 years ago and now proven by hindsight to have been errors, but the picture of the living human being as he stands before us today, and the extent to which he now possesses wisdom and maturity and stability.

As things stand today, I can see no reason why malicious people should have any particular difficulty in rendering unavailable for service to this country almost any person whom they might select for this treatment. All that is necessary is to release a spate of rumors and gossip and demands for investigation.

In the end, if the public servant in question is not discouraged and demoralized, a portion of the public will at any rate have lost confidence in him, and his usefulness to the country will have been thereby reduced.

I am thinking here not only, or even primarily, of the man's own loss, which may be grievous. I am thinking of the country's loss, which is more grievous still. Are we so rich in talented public servants that we can afford to leave the ones we have vulnerable to this sort of danger?

Charles L. Allen

The Place Where Everybody Sings

Tomorrow afternoon something is going to take place that I do not want to miss. It is the city-wide Hymn Festival at the Municipal Auditorium at 3 o'clock. We are expecting to have no less than 5,000 people there, singing together the great and favorite hymns of all our churches. The Salvation Army band will be there to give support along with the huge auditorium organ.

There will be an especially selected choir of 200 voices to sing some beloved hymn anthems and lead the congregational singing. In addition, hundreds of regular choir singers of our churches will be placed strategically throughout the auditorium, to add wonderfully to the singing.

This is not a program of just one church or denomination, but is for all who love to sing and find inspiration in wonderful music. It is being sponsored by the Georgia Chapter of the American Guild of Organists. Mrs. Bayne Smith is dean of the chapter and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lowrance are cochairmen of this festival.

When it comes to great hymns of the faith, no one church stands alone, because we share the hymns that all our churches have produced. For example, it was a Jew who wrote "The Lord Is My Shepherd, I Shall Not Want" and an Episcopalian who wrote "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

It was Martin Luther himself who wrote "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God." And a Presbyterian wrote "Rock of Ages." It was a Baptist who wrote the famous hymn about the "River" which flows by the throne of God. A Catholic wrote "Silent Night" and a Methodist wrote "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

A Baptist wrote "He Leadeth Me, O Blessed Thought," and a Quaker wrote "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind." A Congregationalist wrote "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee" and a Methodist wrote "Break Thou the Bread of Life." It was a Unitarian who wrote "God Bless Our Native Land" and a Presbyterian who wrote "Be Strong, We Are Not Here to Play." A Dutch Reformed wrote "It Is Not Death to Die" and a Catholic wrote "Lead, Kindly Light."

It will be an experience we will long remember to have been part of such a large and thrilling audience, including people of all faiths, singing together to the glory of God. Have you ever heard 5,000 people sing together? Not many such opportunities are offered us and let me urge you not to miss the chance tomorrow.

Above all let us observe the rules of singing as given by John Wesley. He said: (1) Sing lustily and with a good courage. (2) Sing modestly. Do not bawl. (3) Sing in time. Do not run before or stay behind. (4) Above all, sing spiritually. Have an eye on God in every word you sing.

Blood Call In the Night

After midnight, a knock at the door or the ring of the phone can, and often does, mean trouble—somewhere for someone. When the phone rings in the night at the home of George Keller in Chamblee, George pretty well knows what's up. As the assistant administrative director for the Red Cross Blood Center, which means he's sort of executive officer at the Center, he's become accustomed to those calls in the night. The Keller phone rang at 2:30 last Sunday morning. There had been a terrible wreck on the highway near Jackson, 13 persons in the two cars that crashed head-on. (There were eight fatalities then, you will remember. A ninth victim died Thursday night.)

The mangled survivors had been carried to the Griffin-Spalding Hospital in Griffin. The need was evident—whole blood and quick. The hospital staff knew to call Secretarial Service in Atlanta. Secretarial Service knew whom to call for blood.

Red Cross man and State Patrol Trooper R. B. Rogers met at the Blood Center. At 3:10 a. m. the life-saving shipment was on its way. You can bet your last red corpuscle it wasn't long reaching the emergency room in Griffin. Since Sunday, the Center has sent 18 additional pints. Thus does a people extend a helping hand to neighbors in distress—through the close co-operation of agencies organized for that one purpose, through volunteer donors whose altruism made the vital blood transfer possible.

SPEAKING OF BLOOD, fraternities at Auburn have abandoned that infernal institution known as "Hell Week" and substituted a requirement that pledges give to the Red Cross blood program.

Off Limits to Scouts

For what it's worth: Baseball scouts are making rapid strides toward exceeding unpopularity around the University of Georgia. They came in and made off with Don Lasseter and Jimmy Nisewonger, outfielder and pitcher, and quarterback prospects. Now they're getting fresh with Reggie Andrews, the sophomore shortstop, and Bobby Sherrer, the junior third baseman. . . . Wallace Butts regards Lasseter as the biggest athletic loss in the SEC in five years, next to Haywood Sullivan, who was won by the Red Sox. Lasseter camps at Winston-Salem in the Cardinal farm chain this season. . . . And whatever became of Eddie Goosetree, the old Detroit scout?

If Emory Clements had been on first base an inning sooner, Al Parrish would have had his no-hitter at Athens Thursday. Johnny Douglas couldn't reach a tall foul that Virgil Martin raised over by the fence, but Clements, a much faster man, could have made it. Martin then tripled for the only hit Parrish surrendered. . . . The Bulldogs and their constituents made as much noise over their baseball victory over Florida as if a big football match had been won. Stars were swamped and carried off the field, and spirit ran amuck. . . . The Crackers could take a tip. The game was played in 1:33.

Candler's Duke of Lullwater, sort of short as a three-year-old, makes his first trotting start of the year May 15 in Buffalo, and will go for $200,000 worth of stakes this summer.

—Mauch Wanted a Typewriter

A Chattanooga columnist wrote unsubtlely of his low regard for the Crackers after they had passed through on their first road trip. Said Gene Mauch, after they'd blown their fourth in a row: "If that guy was here now I'd help him write another one." . . . Mumblin' Sam Sobel, a sort of an heirloom of Southern boxing, advertises his welterweight Bobcat Elliott as "another Mickey Walker . . . a combination of Ace Hudkins and Billy Petrolle . . . a perpetual buzzsaw." I know, but what's he the champion of?

George Volkert, the Nashville backfield ace about whom Tennessee writers have completely run out of superlatives, will enter Georgia Tech for summer school work. That eliminates the prospect of a steal by outside SEC schools. . . . Veteran of the Indianapolis "500" this year will be Chet Miller. The old iron-hoss jockey drives in his 17 Speedway derby on May 30. . . . And when Ray Harroun introduced the rear-view mirror and won the 1911 "500," the new instrument was considered a radical departure.

Leo the Lip Durocher predicts that Daryl Spencer will drive in 100 runs, if he hits .280. And if he keeps his noggin out of the way of unfriendly pitches. . . . When Spencer came back to the lineup so soon after his latest slug in the teeth, he explained: "I never played with my mouth, anyway." . . . Paul Florence, the Cincinnati scout, sat down to pass the time of day with the PA announcer at the Federal Pen before a game last week. The PA announcer was moaning about the Feds and their poor team this season. "We just don't get the good boys any more," he said. At last baseball must be going straight. . . . Selah.

Rodgers, Humphreys Spur Triumph Before 10,000

By FURMAN BISHER

Georgia Tech found out Friday night that football hasn't changed much, as far as the score is concerned.

Head Coach Bobby Dodd set his Whites and Blues out after one another on the scarred floor of Grant Field in the annual T-Day game, and when it was done the Whites had won by the Sugar Bowl score of 24-7, by which Ole Miss fell on New Year's Day. It was the Yellow Jackets' first public demonstration of what the game's going to be like at The Flats with the restoration of restricted substitution, and 10,000 spectators, curious to see for themselves, set a record for this spring on-the-campus classic.

It was hardly extraordinary that Pepper Rodgers, the incomparable and sometimes unfathomable, should have been the leader of the White mob. But it was strictly an upset that his most effective henchman should have been George Humphreys, the brother of Buster (senior of '50) and a 20-year-old junior from Whitwell, Tennessee.

Rodgers it was who first installed the Whites in a 10-0 lead, but Humphreys it was who came through with the score that put the Whites out of reach after the Blues had made it 7-10. Humphreys had to change shirts to land on the winning side, however. He had been billeted with the Blue-shirts, but when Glenn Turner and Linwood Roberts both limped off with pulled muscles and left the Whites high and dry at fullback, Humphreys, who was playing Larry Morris on the

*"I was particularly pleased with the over-all kicking. Freshman Leland Sims and Junior Jimmy Carlen, whom we saw under pressure for the first time, both did very well. # Rookie Phillips Tops Lookouts On 5-Hitter

Crackers Rout Gerry Lane and End Losing Streak in 9-1 Win Over Champs

By JESSE OUTLAR

Taylor Phillips, a 19-year-old southpaw with only two Class D seasons behind him, made a royal entrance into Southern Association society Friday night at Ponce de Leon Park.

Phillips threw a sassy five-hitter at the Chattanooga Lookouts as the Crackers racked Gerry Lane and two other hurlers for a dozen safeties and a 9-1 triumph.

A Ponce De Leon Ladies Night turnout of 4,473 shouted its approval as Phillips baffled the Lookouts and snapped a four-game Atlanta losing streak.

A pinch triple, struck by George Bradshaw in the seventh, was the only really solid blow the Lookouts landed. Frank Sacka collected two legitimate singles, but the other two safeties were infield raps which bounced off Junior Wooten.

Phillips, who hails from nearby Douglasville, was making his first official start. In fact, it was his first appearance since limiting the Chicago White Sox to one run in an exhibition scrap here April 9.

He fanned seven, walked six and convinced Manager Gene Mauch that there's been another regular starter in the Cracker pitching stall all along.

The Lookouts foiled Phillips' shutout bid with their lone run in the second. Two walks, mixed with two fielder's choices, and Sacka's single supplied the marker. However, a better throw by Charlie Williams, after Roy Dietzel bounced to Vern Petty, would have averted the run.

Phillips, who won 21 games for Waycross of the Georgia-Florida a year ago, got wonderful stick support from his mates. Jack Parks, Vern Petty, Pete Whisenant and Dick Sinovic, the men Mauch changed in his batting order, drove in all the Atlanta runs.

Lane, who had not allowed an earned run in 25 innings, including a shutout over the Crackers, was cuffed for two scores in the first.

Singles by Wooten and Billy Smith, who scored three runs, and an infield out set the stage for Parks' two-run hit to right.

However, the ex-Cracker recovered his poise, until the fifth, when a four-run outburst sent him to a shower with his first defeat. Lane had won three.

With one out, in that round, Phillips walked, took second on Junior Wooten's hit to right, and buzzed on to third on Buck Varner's throwing error.

Smith then drew an intentional pass, Parks' unintentional walk, forcing in a run.

Petty followed with a shot to center that landed for three bases

TOMMY COLLINS REMEMBERED TO DUCK THIS JIMMY CARTER PUNCH

But The Champ Floored The Bostonian 10 Times Before The Friday Brawl Was Over

Carter Floors Collins 10 Times, Wins TKO

Lightweight Champion Takes Boston Challenger in 4th

BOSTON, April 24—(AP)—Champion Jimmy Carter successfully defended his world lightweight title Friday night when he knocked out Tommy Collins of Boston in the fourth round of their scheduled 15-round bout at Boston Garden.

Virtually unscathed, the 29-year-old champion knocked Collins to the canvas 10 times before finally being awarded the victory in a merciful decision by Referee Tommy Rawson.

When the fight, third largest cashwise for the lightweight championship in history, was over, Collins was completely at sea. His left eye was closed to a slit. Blood was pouring from a gash above it. And he was lying on his back under the ropes near his corner with his legs half raised in the air.

Seven times in the third round he had gone down, arising each time to fight back against his rugged opponent. Three times in the fourth round he went down, the last time for keeps.

Weighing 134½, three-quarters of a pound more than the 23-year-old challenger, Carter received no more than a dozen punches during the battle that played to a sellout crowd of 13,909.

Carter took a slight lead in the opening round, his best punch being a right hand to Collins' hea dthat landed with staggering force. He took a somewhat wider lead in the second, scoring first with lefts and rights to the head followed by a two-fisted body attack.

As the third round ended, Collins sank to his stool, his left eye puffed and virtually closed. Gamely he came out for the fourth, only to meet Carter's lethal right hook. He went down near Carter's corner. He staggered around the ring and went down again, almost in his own corner. As Collins arose, Referee Rawson wiped off his gloves and examined his left eye, now closed and bleeding profusely from a cut above the brow.

Collins gazed dizzily out on the crowd as Rawson momentarily halted the fight and there were boos when he permitted it to continue. Carter came on, fired his right again and that was the end of the first challenge for a world title here by a Boston fighter in nine years.

Although the fight apparently ended in a clean knockout, the decision was a technical knockout. However, some ringside observers contended it might have been a victory for Carter by a foul under National Boxing Association rules since Collins' handlers entered the ring before Rawson officially ended the bout.

'WHERE WERE DOCTORS?'

Christenberry Blisters Title Bout Officiating

By the Associated Press

"Where were the doctors? Why didn't they stop it quicker?" was the comment of Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission after lightweight champion Jimmy Carter's one-sided TKO of Tommy Collins in Boston Friday night.

"Everything we've done to make it a clean, competitive sport they've thrown to the wind," said Christenberry who watched the fight on television in New York.

"Giving Collins every break, maybe they should have let him have say three or at the most four knockdowns, but beyond that it was shocking. Millions of people witnessed this black eye to boxing and it will take a long time for boxing to make up for it.

"It couldn't happen in New York," said Christenberry. "I found myself shouting 'Where are the doctors? Why doesn't somebody stop it.'

"This emphasizes once more the absolute necessity for proper matchmaking. We did not want that match but gave in reluctantly to the request of Carter and his manager that they get a chance to capitalize a little on the title. Mr. Carter's next offense will have to be against George Araujo, the leading contender."

Christenberry said that he admired Carter's action at one stage of the debacle. "Apparently he was not willing to hit Collins hard after he saw Collins was finished. But since nobody was stopping the fight he had no alternative but to continue."

UNBEATEN NATIVE DANCER HEAVY FAVORITE IN WOOD TODAY

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—Unbeaten Native Dancer, the Kentucky Derby favorite, goes after his eleventh straight triumph in the $100,000 Wood Memorial at Jamaica Saturday.

Six of New York's best three-year-olds also are entered, but they're not expected to stop the Dancer.

This will be the last start for Al Vanderbilt's gray charger before the Kentucky Derby next Saturday. He and Social Outcast, a stablemate also entered in the Wood, leave for Churchill Downs Sunday afternoon.

Rain was forecast for the mile and an eighth stake—the longest journey the Dancer ever has taken under Vanderbilt's cerise and white silks. But regardless of the weather and the track conditions, Native Dancer and Social Outcast will run.

A crowd of about 40,000 was expected at the track and bet the entry down to 1 to 4. Only in his first start, when he was 7 to 5, has Native Dancer been higher than even money.

In a last ditch stand to qualify for the Kentucky Derby by challenging the champion were Saxon Stable's Invigorator, Ben F. Whitaker's Tahitian King, Spring Hill Farm's Jamie K and Rokeby Stable's Magic Lamp.

Mr. Jamieson, the other Wood starter owned by John M. Nizlek, is not eligible for the Kentucky Derby.

Following Correspondent's smashing triumph in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland Thursday, the winner's time in the Wood will be closely watched. Correspondent ran his mile and an eighth in 1:49 to set a new track record. The Jamaica track record, set by Bryan G in the Westchester Handicap in 1951, stands at 1:49 1/5.

Native Dancer who already has amassed $254,995 in earnings, runs for the richest purse of his career. In the Futurity Stakes at Belmont Park the husky young colt earned $82,845. The winner's share of Saturday's $123,750 gross purse totals $87,000 net.

Post time for the Wood is set at 4:12 p. m. (EST) with NBC televising the race and ABC broadcasting it.

Eric Guerin, who has been aboard Native Dancer in all the champion's races, once again will ride under the 126 pounds carried by all contestants.

Kellner Racks Up Faltering Red Sox

A's Lefty Notches Third Straight as Sox Lose 4th

BOSTON, April 24—(AP)—Unbeaten Alex Kellner southpawed his third victory of the young American League season Friday, pitching the Philadelphia Athletics to a 7-2 decision over the young Boston Red Sox.

The loss was the fourth in succession for the Bosox and was watched by 5,991 paid fains.

Kellner, who blanked the New York Yankees in his two previous games, had his scoreless skein snapped after 21 2/3 innings. The Sox scored their first run of the game and the first against the A's southpaw with two out in the fourth. George Kell doubled home Dick Gernert who had singled.

CLARKSTON NIPS REAGIN

Wells, Martin Fling DeKalb Loop Wins

Pitching duels were the order of the day in the DeKalb County high school baseball league Friday as Tucker upset Stone Mountain, 7-2, Chamblee shaded Southwest DeKalb, 3-2, and unbeaten Clarkston came from a three-run deficit in the final inning to nip Lithonia and ace flinger Donnie Reagin, 6-5.

Ralph Wells, Tucker left-hander, fanned 14 and pitched a six-hitter in besting Stone Mountain's Lefty Mike King, who allowed only four blows. Ten errors undid his great mound stint. Bobby Wade had a three-for-three day for the Mountaineers, and Mackey Waters belted a solo homer and a single for Tucker. King had a run-scoring single in his only official trip.

Chamblee's Pete Martin and Southwest DeKalb's Jim Cole matched four hitters. Billy Donaldson, who had two for three, singled and after advancing on a sacrifice, Jack Blanton singled him home with the winning run in the eighth inning. Porky Payne rapped three of the DeKalbers' four hits. Cole fanned three, walked two. Martin whiffed only one, walked three.

Billy Armistead took over the mound duties from Clarkston's Horace McAdams for the final two innings and was the victor. Donnie Reagin fanned ten of the winners and walked three. Bobby Joe White belted a double and single for Clarkston, Donnie Reagin and Frank Feagin a pair of singles apiece for Lithonia. McAdams struck out six, walked one. Armistead fanned three, walked two.

and three runs, when Country Brown gambled on a shoestring catch and missed. At that juncture, Larry Clark spelled Lane and put out the rally.

Phillips had all the run ammunition he needed, but the Crackers conked Bill Treece, for two scores in the seventh, another in the eighth. Whisenant's triple drove in two, Sinovic's single the other.

A near free-for-all enlivened the contest, in the second, when Roy Hawes, who had walked, and Wooten exchanged sharp words at first. Cause of the dispute was unknown, but players from both teams swarmed in. For a moment, it looked like trouble, but cooler heads prevailed.

Mauch will send Art Fowler (1-1) against the Lookouts' Ted Abernathey (1-0) in the second of the four-game series Saturday night.

CRACKER DIARY — Manager Gene Mauch shuffled his Cracker batting order for the Lookout opener. Dick Sinovic, who has only three RBI's despite a .381 average, was moved from clean-up into the three slot. Jack Parks, only regular to hit a homer this year, was planted in Dick's spot, and Pete Whisenant was dropped down to sixth. . . . Joe Engel, the Chattanooga Barnum, and Charlie Hurth, Southern prexy, viewed the game from the press box. Engel says he came down to appear on the Cracker TV show Sunday. . . . Pitchers Zeke Zeist and Bunky Stewart, returned from Washington Thursday. . . . Catcher Roy Jarvis probably will be placed on the active list Saturday. . . . First release by Howe News shows the Crackers third in batting (.285) and sixth in fielding (957). . . . Frank Sacka, with a lusty .324 was the only Lookout regular above the .300 level before Friday's game.

Rodgers and Humphreys Spearhead White Victory

Blues, switched over and became a bull of the woods. He hammered out 73 yards in 17 carries and was the rushing star of the night on the same field with all-America Leon Hardeman, Bill Teas and Larry Ruffin, stars of a squad unbeaten in two seasons.

The Blues dealt mainly in Bill Brigman, who pitched one of his best games — six for 12 for 115 yards—but who found no appreciable offensive help on his side. Hardeman was rather well contained, gained only 32 yards for seven carries, and Larry Morris, taking his college plunge as an offensive fullback, worked out 15 yards in four totes.

The Whites, coached by Frank Broyles, Whitey Urban, Tonto Coleman and Bob Bossons, owned the night almost from the first minute. They belted the Blue line for 208 rushing yards and accumulated 19 first downs.

Rodgers took charge of the soiree while customers were still streaming in to the stands. The second time the Whites got the ball, after a Leland Sims punt rolled dead on their 36, Rodgers passed to Teas and Sam Hensley, a defensive convert, and Teas and Turner ran the ball to the Blues 12. The choke set in, though, and Rodgers dropped back to the 18, with Stan Cochran holding, belted a field goal through the middle from a sharp angle.

The 3-0 lead became 10-0 on a 24-yard drive that traveled on arduous route on the after side of the second quarter. The Whites used eight plays to cover the distance after Bill Fulcher had partially blocked Sims' punt as he kicked out of the end zone. The scoring play was a Rodgers-Hensley pass, and Pepper kicked the 10th point.

The Blues never walked on White ground until five plays before the half was ended, 10-0.

Hardeman fielded Jimmy Carlen's punt at the 32, returned to the 50 and from there the Blues barreled to their only score the first time they touched the ball in the second half. It took six plays, three of them Brigman passes to Bill Sennett, an elusive senior reserve, that covered 42 yards. Ruffin dashed in with the score from four yards out and Hardeman kicked the extra point.

Here came Humphreys. The Tennessee fullback took over after the kickoff and led the Whites in a drive from 20-yard line to touchdown. He handled the score on a three-yard shot off tackle. Rodgers made it 17-7.

Jack Hall, the state's biggest prep star of two years ago, stole a Brigman pass on the first play of the fourth quarter and sprinted 42 yards down the far sideline for the last score. Rodgers missed the first attempt, but got life on an offside penalty and made it 24-7.

If there was a deviation from the Tech-type football of the past two glorious years, it wasn't serious enough to show. The two coaching staffs — Ray Graves, Sam Lyle, Lew Woodruff and Bo Hagan handled the Blues — employed mass substitution. Only in the cases of punters Sims and Carlen was the new rule violated.

There were chinks in the defensive backfields, but on occasions some of the hardest tackles of the game were delivered by Hardeman, Rodgers and Ruffin. Stickouts in the line were Hensley and Orville Vereen of the Whites and Franklin Brooks and Henry Hair of the Blues.

Konstanty 2-Hitter Beats Bucs for Phils

Leaders Win 5th Straight As Ennis Smashes Homer

PHILADELPHIA, April 24—(AP)—Jim Konstanty of the Philadelphia Phillies hurled a two-hit 5-3 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night, going the first six and two-thirds innings without allowing a hit.

Del Ennis smacked a two-run homer in the first to start the first-place Phillies on the road to their fifth straight win.

Konstanty, veteran relief hurler now one of Manager Steve O'Neill's starters, was well on the road to a no-hitter until Danny O'Connell singled to center in the seventh with two out.

Big Jim had set the Pirates down in one-two-three order through the first six frames. In the seventh Dick Smith walked as lead off batter. Pete Castiglione was hit by a pitched ball and the crowd of 6,566 groaned. Cal Abrams then hit into a double play and the fans breathed easier. But O'Connell spoiled Konstanty's no-hitter with his single, scoring Smith.

Sally President Fines Two Pilots 10 Bucks Apiece

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 24 (AP)—Two South Atlantic League baseball club managers were fined $10 each Friday by President Dick Butler.

They were Charles Metro of the Montgomery, Ala., Grays and Frank Oceak of the Charleston Rebels.

Metro was fined for his actions that led to his ejection from the Macon-Montgomery game at Montgomery Thursday night.

Oceak was fined, Butler's announcement said, for "his language and actions towards the umpires" at the conclusion of Thursday night's Savannah-Charleston game at Charleston.

Russell Tops Decatur, Ups Lead in 4-AA

Jim (Snake Bit) Higginbotham pitched a four-hitter for Decatur but lost it Friday as Larry Dodd's unbeaten Russell Wildcats smashed across three runs in the fourth inning and moved farther ahead in the Region 4-AA Southern Division high school baseball race with a 3-2 victory at South Fulton Park.

Ronnie Jones lathered a fast ball for a two-run triple in the winning uprising, and Lamar

Smith allowed the invading Decaturites only six hits, fanned seven and walked only one. Gibs Mobley's third-frame triple was wasted by the 'Cats.

Drew Suttles and Earl Fuller carried the offensive load for Frank Jones' Bulldogs, the former with two singles for three, the latter with a double. Higginbotham, who was king except in that one bad inning, issued four walks and whiffed six.

Marist downed Spalding of Griffin, 7-4, at Glenn Field and pulled into a tie with Decatur for second place.

Marist's Paul Flood notched a six hitter, struck out eight and walked seven in taking his second victory of the week. Merlin Lewis let the Cadets down with five blows, fanned four, walked six. David Chambers cracked two hits for Spalding, Ed White as many for Marist.

Braves Send Mainzer, Brittin to Cracker Aid

Shortstop, Pitcher Expected To Add Much Needed Strength

By JESSE OUTLAR

Bob Mainzer, a shortstop with a fancy fielding reputation, and Jack Brittin, most effective hurler in the Southern Association at the end of the '52 campaign, were shipped to the Atlanta Crackers Friday by the parent Milwaukee Braves.

Cracker President Earl Mann has been trying to pry loose both players from the Toledo Sox, and the Braves selected an opportune moment to order their transfer here.

Brittin, who made 13 of his last 16 decisions winning efforts a year ago, should anchor the Cracker pitching staff. The steady, heady right-hander definitely has what it takes to be a winner in this circuit. After a slow start, he posted a 14-6 record and an ERA of 3.60 in '52.

As valuable as Brittin is, he won't get any warmer welcome than 26-year-old Mainzer. For on the club's 1-6 road tour, Manager Gene Mauch labeled a new shortstop as his most urgent need.

Young Jack Caro, who needs only experience to become a major league prospect, simply isn't ready for Double A play. It isn't fair to Caro to keep him here, when he sorely needs another year in a lower loop.

Mainzer, veteran of seven seasons, had the best year of his career at Wichita Falls of the Class B Big State in '52. He blossomed into a slugger, driving in 105 runs with 34 doubles, six triples and nine homers. He hits right-handed, batted .326.

He toured with the Braves this spring and was in the line-up on the club's visit to Atlanta.

With Mainzer in harness, Mauch will return to second as soon as his fractured finger mends. He prefers this post, though he has been operating at short in recent games.

Provided Mainzer plugs the gap at shortstop, the Crackers should have one of the league's better defensive infields. Junior Wooten, at first, and Vern Petty, at third, and Mauch are the best glove men in the circuit at their positions.

Charlie Williams, stationed at second since Mauch benched Caro in Chattanooga, probably will revert to his utility role.

PILE-DRIVES MEXICAN

Harrel's Hold Seems Anti-Good Neighbor

By EDWIN POPE

"The pile-driver," said Henry Harrell, "is hard to explain. Maybe I'd just better demonstrate it for you."

Twenty minutes later, under the blistering klieg-light of City Auditorium, the Southern Junior heavyweight wrestling champion stood facing a hail of boos and threats. But there twitching on the canvas was Cearlos Guzman, the clean sport from Mexico, who wished that Harrel had explained rather than demonstrated the pile-driver.

It's a simple enough maneuver. You—if you're Harrel catch a guy like Guzman, turn him upside down and lock your knees around his neck. You hold his feet high and fall backward. His skull hits the canvas and, if the promoter is lucky, it doesn't ruin the flooring.

The trick is not calculated to win friends, only matches. "It's got me where I am," said the mustachioed Mississippian Friday night, "and if I ever catch up with Don McIntyre, the Southern heavyweight champion, it'll beat him, too."

The 31-year-old Vicksburg product served in the Navy beside Arthur Donovan, the referee who worked most of Joe Louis' championship boxing matches. "He was always talking about fair play," said Harrel, "and I guess he's right, but might makes right—and money—insied those four posts."

Harrell, never hurt except for a liver hemorrhage resulting from a flying tackle that carried him into a steel ringpost instead of an opponent, has two friends in Atlanta. "One is Paul Jones," the promoter who books Harrel.

"The other is George Morris, Tech's all-America linebacker," he said. "And I guess if I'd taught him all I knew, Tech would have been penalized a thousand yards last fall. How'd I know George? Oh, he sold fireworks for me in Vicksburg."

It was an interesting social item but entirely superfluous. Anyone who has seen Harrel and his pile-drive can see he's in the fireworks business.

Rhino Gores Gators For Jackets, 5-4

Heat-Wilted Hurler Makes It on Moxie

By BILL McGROTHA

Georgia Tech's baseball team survived an absorbing bit of last-inning drama here Friday afternoon to defeat Florida, 5-4, behind some nervy pitching by Chappell Rhino.

Fast-working Rhino, wheeling and dealing so swiftly that he ran out of cards along about the seventh inning, turned to bluffing where he had been baffling and came out of it. He must have had an ace up his sleeve for he struck out Jim Hirsch to end the game with the tying run on second base.

When Rhino walked off the mound, he barely made it to the dugout. Near heat prostration, he said he could not "see a thing" and did not know where his final strike-out pitch was going. It was about five minutes before he recovered enough to leave the dugout.

"He stayed in there on what he had here," said Coach Joe Pittard, patting his own rather adequate stomach.

Still rubbing his tummy, the coach grinned, "Guess this one kinda helped old Georgia out, too."

It did. For the loss dropped Florida's SEC record to 10-5, compared to 10-2 for the Bulldogs. With four games remaining for the two leaders, Georgia is in a comfortable spot.

Rhino, going the route for the first time this year, gave eight hits, only three bases on balls. It was Tech's fourth SEC victory in 11 decisions.

For a couple of seconds it appeared Florida had tied the game 5-5 in the ninth. Catcher Bobby Barnes led off the inning with a single and promptly stole second. He skipped to third on Lou Pesce's sacrifice. Pesce was safe at first, however, on a fielder's choice throw to third that got there after Barnes.

Rudy Simpson drove a long fly to center and Barnes tore out for home. But there was a small details Barnes had forgotten. He had not tagged up, and Dan Theodocion, after snaring the ball for one out in center, threw to third baseman Claude Young for a double play. Then Rhino fanned Hirsch to end it.

Tech scored one in the first on Bobby McCauley's double, a passed ball, and Rhino's fly to center. Two more came in the second on singles by C. Young and Barry Hornbein's grounder. walk, Buddy Young's RBI grounder and Jimmy Rogers fly to center.

Rhino's triple and Dick Austin's single brought a fourth Tech tally in the third. The winning run came in the sixth when Florida centerfielder Jimmy Brown, trying for a shoestring catch, played Cohen's "single" into an inside-the-park home run.

Florida scored in the first on Pesce's walk, Simpson's double and Harry Hornbein's grounder. Hornbein was thumbed out in the eighth for a too-vigorous protest on a called third strike.

Virgil Martin homered 320 feet over the left-field barrier for a second Gator run in the fourth. Two final Florida scores crossed in the eighth on Hirsch's walk, a single by Martin and a pair of Tech errors.

Tech and Florida end their two-game series at Rose Bowl Saturday afternoon, 3 o'clock. The Gators' swing through Georgia has been a disastrous one, for they lost twice to the Bulldogs in Athens before coming to Atlanta and losing again Friday.

NTS Golfers Wait For Southern Okay

Amateur Status of 7 Linksmen May Block Entry at Athens

By BERT PRATHER

Though nothing official has been done about it yet, North Texas State's chances of defending its Southern Intercollegiate golf championship next week at Athens Country Club will probably hinge on what action, if any, the United States Golf Association takes on the NTS case at the association's meeting now in session at Pinehurst, North Carolina.

Seven members and former members of the North Texas State golf team recently were ruled no longer amateurs by the USGA when it was brought out that the school paid the players' expenses to a Mexican tournament, a violation of the USGA amateur code. Schools are allowed to pay expenses only to tournaments involving intercollegiate competition, under the present USGA rule.

Howell Hollis

Barring of these players from USGA events brought on the question of whether or not they would be eligible to compete in the Southern Intercollegiate and National Collegiate championships.

University of Georgia's assistant athletic director and Southern Intercollegiate golf tournament director sought an opinion from NCAA tournament chairman Ted Payseur of Northwestern University. Payseur has advised that he could give no official ruling until he could hold a meeting of the NCAA golf rules committee, but did say that it was his personal opinion that the NTS entries would be accepted since they would be certified by the school, but that since the NCAA championship is governed by rules of the USGA that the boys who have lost their USGA amateur standing would be disqualified at the first tee. That is a personal opinion, he said, and not an official one.

Since the Southern tournament is also conducted under NCAA and USGA rules, it is apparent that Director Howell Hollis would have to rule along the same lines.

He is hoping though that the USGA may possibly reinstate the boys at its current meeting, in which event it would clear up the situation entirely.

Coach Fred Cobb of North Texas State has written Hollis that he will enter the full NTS team if they are ruled eligible to compete. The Eagles from Denton have won the NCAA team championship the last three years and the Southern the past two times. Billy Maxwell of the Eagles, has won the individual title at Athens for the past two years, but is now in the Army.

Rock Creek Open Saturday and Sunday; Record Number of Fishing Permits Sold

Rock Creek is open Saturday and Sunday—the first stream in the management area to be opened—and Game and Fish department enforcement chief W. H. Hodges says that a record number of permits have been sold.

Thus, the most waited-for development in-so-far as trout fishing is concerned has come. Next weekend, the Chattahoochee River and its tributaries open north of Helen, and the trout season for the angler who has no mystery river or secret stream is open.

Allen

Let's hope that with the increased interest in the trout by Georgia anglers, a responsibility is felt, and more public interest develops in strengthening the trout's hold in north Georgia.

The State and Federal governments have done their share in providing Georgia with a full-time biologist for work in the mountain streams. The angler must do his part, too, in conserving what we have.

A little rumor has it that some huge brood stock fro mseveral hatcheries has been released in the state's streams this year. Maybe a record will be broken on Rock Creek Saturday.

GOOD WORK—In Dahlonega, where the most concerted effort in north Georgia is being made toward a victory in this year's Champion Home Town contest, the folks are in the midst of a crusade to publicize fishing waters.

All the menfolk in Lumpkin County have been canvassed to make an easy guide list available to visitors, showing the best trout streams, ponds, and hunting areas.

Many an outdoorsman in that area is having his favorite secret pool location pried out of him, I'll bet. And the thing about it is that fishing pressure won't damage the area so much as it will educate the big ones and the big ones will get bigger.

That's the reason year after year that the biggest trout are caught outside the refuge by men who try, and try again. That's my theory, anyway.

KNIGHT AND DAY: Begin reading the John Alden Knight Solunar tables Monday in The Atlanta Constitution Sports Peach. He lists the times each day when fish and game are most active. Follow his advice and report on the results to "Outdoor Georgia."

BIRDLORE—Edd Dodd, who is clearing house for any question on natural history, cleared up a problem this week for Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCart of 1007 Gordon St., S. W., into whose garage a "strange" bird had flown and become trapped.

The bird, according to Mark Trail's creator, was a "Chuck Will's Widow"—incidentally, not the male Whippoorwill, but a larger, throatier bird with longer whiskers—very common to Georgia. Dodd says the bird is attracted to white spots, and gets away with its young in its beak catstyle when molested.

CREEL PEEKS—Larry P. Martin landed a five-pound Spanish mackerel at Panacea on bait. . . . Julian Billingslea got a three-pound sturgeon on wigglers at Allatoona, but no caviar, alas. . . . Jim Sanders of Covington, D. L. Fountain, Herman Watson, Frank Bizzell and L. V. Osigian, all of Warner Robins, boated 17 king mackerel out of Sarasota. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Mayo Tucker got 50 bream out of Heagy's camp at Orange Lake. . . . Other successful bream fishermen were Ed Hudson of Milledgeville, H. B. Lewis, Bhl Hudson and L. C. Smith of Perry who snagged 21 fat ones. . . . T. L. Hart of Macon had a string of 25 stump knockers. . . . At McIntosh, E. C. McAllister and E. W. Atwater got their limit of bream. . . . H. H. Kane got three bass from 2 to 4 pounds.

Galletta, Campbell Gain Finals

Ex-Champs Meet For N-S Crown

PINEHURST, N. C., April 24—(AP) Mal Galletta and Bill Campbell, both former champions, stroked their way to the finals on the North and South amateur golf championship Friday.

Galletta, after spending most of the time chasing Bob Cochran, lanky 40-year-old from St. Louis, finally caught him on the 17th and won the 18th and the match with a par four for his one up margin.

Campbell shot three-under-par golf at Bill Hyndman of Abington, Pa., for a 4 and 3 victory. The distance moves up to 36 holes for Saturday's finals starting at 9:45 a. m. and 2 p. m. (EST).

Campbell, handsome 29-year-old former West Virginia legislator, won here three years ago. Last Monday his one-under-par 71 tied him with Texan Spec Goldman for the medal. Galletta, a swarthy, 42-year-old little veteran, won in 1944. Last year he reached the semifinals, bowing to the eventual winner, Frank Stranahan.

The two finalists met last year in the second round of the Canadian amateur, Campbell gaining a 2 and 1 decision over Galletta, who, at 5-8, is some 8 inches shorter than the West Virginian.

Bulldogs Host Tech, FSU In Tri-Meet

Special to The Constitution

ATHENS, April 24—Georgia's track and field team, headed by sprinter Otho Dodd and timber topper Kermit Perry, will be host to Georgia Tech and Florida State's Seminoles in a triangular meet at Sanford Stadium Saturday afternoon.

The meet is expected to be between the Bulldogs and Seminoles with the Jackets a distant third. Coach Spec Towns has one of his best teams at Georgia in several years, while Coach Ken Miller can always be counted upon to field a good team at FSU.

Tech has one of its weakest teams but should pick up a couple of first places and a few seconds and thirds. Dick Ralston, a 12-6 vaulter, may grab this event for Tech, while Roy Cooper is a capable distance runner. He is likely to start in the mile instead of the two-mile Saturday, according to Coach Norris Dean.

Other Techsters with possibilities are Harry Wright in the 100 and 220; Frank Rust in the broad jump and hurdles; Captain Hugh Tannehill in the 880, and Don Tetlebach in the two-mile run.

Georgia's Perry and Dodd are undefeated in dual competition this year and seems sure bets to rack up 20 sure points for the Bulldogs in the sprints and hurdles.

Tommy Beutell Breaks Two City Hurdle Marks

Lester Simerville and Hugh Gatlin Gallop 100 in :10.3 To Tie Record

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Lithe, curly haired Tommy Beutell is not in the lumber business, but there is no doubt left that the Northside high speedster is the best, fanciest and swiftest timber topper in Atlanta.

His track team lost its bitter neighborhood duel with North Fulton, 66-56, at Grady Stadium Friday, but young Tomy smashed the City League dual meet records in both low and high hurdles, one a mark that has been on the books for five years.

Buetell, who failed to qualify for the state meet a year ago because he fell and skidded into the cinders head first in his qualifying heat, skimmed the highs Friday in 15.4 seconds to snap a 15.9 mark established in 1948 by Grady High's Dan Dominy.

He later came back to post a blistering 20.9 in the 180-yard lows, bettering the 21.2 that he did himself only recently. O'Keefe's John Cook also bettered the old standard. He ran a neat 21.1.

Northside's Lester Simerville and Bass' Hugh Gatlin both ran the 100-yard dash in 10.3 in this final City League dual meet carnival of the year. Thus they tied a record shared by Gatlin (1952) and Murphy's Mott Morrison (1950).

Simerville and Gatlin were among four aces who scored the maximum 16¼ points for the day. Like Brown's Don Tedder and Fulton's Larry Rudin across town at Cheney Stadium, Simerville and Gatlin ran on winning relay teams in addition to winning three first places each. Bass' Bill Keels, the weights specialist, and O'Keefe's Richard Duncan, also copped three firsts for 15 points.

Keels copped the discus, shot and javelin, flinging the discus 139 feet 2 inches in his specialty. The other three-timers all won 100 and 220 races. Gatlin also nabbed the broad jump. Simerville the javelin, Tedder the low hurdles, Rudin the high jump, Duncan the pole vault.

Marietta's James Roukoski and O'Keefe's Billy Salter were among two-time victors. Salter did one of the top shot-putting jobs of the year with a 48-9¼ heave.

Sylvan's Donald Boyd tied his own Cheney Stadium high jump record at 5-8, and Brown's relay team tied its own Cheney mark of 1:37.3. Fastest 440 of the day was run by North Clayton's Calvin Henson in a triangular meet involving all Clayton County champs, Marietta High and West Fulton. The Claytonites nosed out Marietta by a half point.

Georgia, Tech Golfers Meet

Special to The Constitution

ATHENS, April 24—Georgia and Georgia Tech clash on the golf links here Saturday afternoon in the first of their annual home-and-home matches. The return match is set for Atlanta May 12.

SEC BASEBALL

Bulldogs, Maroons Near Division Titles

Georgia and Mississippi State have all but clinched the divisional crowns and the right to meet for the Southeastern Conference baseball championship.

Even should Florida (10-5) win all its remaining three games, Georgia (10-2) has only to break even in its final four matches with Auburn and Georgia Tech to win the Eastern title.

If Florida won its Saturday game at Tech and its final two at Auburn, the Gators would finish at 13-5—.722. If Georgia won only two of its four, the Bulldogs would close at 12-5—.750. Thus, it would take an astounding reversal of form for Georgia to drop the bunting.

In the west, Mississippi State stands 9-2, a full three games ahead of Louisiana State (6-5).

Georgia seeks its 10th straight victory against Mercer at Macon Saturday afternoon. Coach Jim Whatley will pick a starter from righthander Lamar Potts, sophomore of Newnan (0-0); righthander Doug Foster, sophomore of Irwinville (2-2), or lefthander Marvin Satterfield, junior of Canton (1-0).

The Bulldogs play Mercer at Athens Monday, FSU there Tuesday. They wait until May 4-5 for the Athens series with Auburn and come to Atlanta May 8-9 to end the SEC schedule against Tech.

Dr. and Mrs. Peale To Start WSB-TV Series April 29

By LAURA BARRE

As a means of helping people solve the problems of their personal and professional lives, Dr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale will be presented in a weekly television program called "What's Your Trouble" beginning at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. Peale will discuss informally the ways in which religious faith and simple psychology can help solve problems.

The programs will be sponsored by the Georgia Council of Churches and presented by WSB-TV as a public service.

Dr. Stuart R. Oglesby, president of the Georgia Council of Churches, described the program as a unique presentation of religion as it relates to every-day living.

The programs are designed to emphasize the fact that viewers may find help in talking their problems over with their own pastors, he said.

The programs filmed in Atlanta are produced under the auspicies of the Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council of Churches of Christ.

Dr. Peale

Dr. Peale has been pastor for 20 years of New York City's oldest church, Marble Collegiate. He has established a clinic in his church, where psychiatrists and psychologists offer counseling service.

He has written several books, the latest of which is "The Power of Positive Living."

Mrs. Peale is vice-president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., a member of the budget and finance committee, National Council of Churches and chairman of religion, New York State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Hymn Festival

The Georgia Chapter of the American Guild of Organists will present a hymn festival at 3 p. m. Sunday at the City Auditorium.

Mrs. Bayne Smith, dean of the guild, has announced that the program is to give new vitality to congregational singing.

Ministers from several denominations will take part in the program. They are Dr. Robert B. Giffen, executive secretary of the Atlanta Christian Council; Dr. Wallace M. Alston, president of Agnes Scott College; Dr. Charles L. Allen, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of Druid Hills Baptist Church, and the Rev. Wilson W. Sneed, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Lowrance Jr. are cochairmen of the festival committee.

Audio-Visual Clinic

A regional audio-visual workshop will be held at Glenn Memorial Methodist Church Monday through Friday. All ministers, teachers of religion and others interested in audio-visual education are invited to take part.

There will be three work groups. Ministers will be instructed by the Rev. Donald E. Lantz of Beverly Hills, Cal.; directors of religious education will be taught by the Rev. Randolph Thornton of Chicago and the Rev. Elmer G. Million of Chicago will instruct denominational and interdenominational officials and seminary teachers.

At 7 p. m. Tuesday through Thursday demonstrations and previews of audio-visual materials will be open to the public free of charge.

The workshop is sponsored by the Atlanta Christian Council, Atlanta Council of Church Women, Southeastern Office of the National Churches of Christ and in co-operation with Emory University.

WSCS Conference

The 13th annual meeting of the North Georgia Conference Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church is scheduled at St. Mark Church through Thursday.

The theme of the meeting is "Forward Through the Ages." Highlight of the program will be a pageant, "The Mission Box," written and produced by Mrs. Arthur Burdette of Atlanta. It will be presented at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Featured speakers will include Mrs. Frank C. Brooks, president of the Woman's Division of Christian Service; Ralph McGill, editor of The Constitution; the Rev. James W. Sells, executive secretary of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Council of the Methodist Church; Mrs. Arthur J. Moore, wife of the presiding bishop and Mrs. Stewart Colley of Grantville, president, North Georgia WSCS.

Sessions will be at 10:30 a. m., 1:30 and 8 p. m. Tuesday, 9:30 and 10:30 a. m. and 1:30, 5:30 and 8 p. m. Wednesday and 9:30 and 10:30 a. m. Thursday.

Spring School

Covenant Presbyterian has announced its annual Spring School in Christian Living Sunday through Thursday. Two courses will be offered for adults and one for young people.

Dr. Robert B. Giffen, executive secretary of the Atlanta Christian Council, will teach "Our Church and Its World Influence."

Dr. Vernon S. Broyles Jr., executive secretary of the Board of Church Extension of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., will instruct in "Practical Applications of the Gospel."

Dr. John R. Brokhoff, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, will teach the young people's course, "Reading Profitably the Revised Standard Version."

All Saints Speaker

Dr. F. Edward Lund, president of Alabama College for Women, will speak at All Saints Episcopal Church at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Dr. Lund was born in China. He attended Washington and Lee, Wisconsin and Northwestern universities.

Young people of the church will be given special recognition at the service, and will perform the several duties normally assumed by adult laymen.

Hapeville Revival

Youth of Hapeville First Baptist Church will conduct a revival Sunday through Friday. Dr. Griffin Henderson, pastor of Marietta First Church, will preach and Bob Scott Jr. will lead the singing.

Services are scheduled at 8:30 and 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Sunday and at 8 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Dr. Henderson will conduct a youth forum for intermediates and young people at 7 p .m. Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Peale Slated

Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale will speak in Atlanta Friday. The United Church Women will sponsor her appearance in connection with May Fellowship Day.

At 10:30 a. m. Mrs. Peale will speak on "Citizenship—Our Christian Concern" at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. A luncheon will be served at the church following the address.

At 1:30 p. m. she will speak at Pattillo Memorial Methodist Church in Decatur.

Baha'i Observance

Atlanta members of Baha'i World Faith will observe the Ridvan at 8 p. m. Sunday at Baha'i Center. The theme of the program will be "The Mission of Baha'u'llah."

R. L. Lindsey, Doris Ebbert and Mrs. P. D. Cunningham of Atlanta and Mrs. Nelson Brown of Augusta will attend the national Baha'i convention in Chicago Wednesday through Friday. They also will attend the dedication of the Baha'i House of Worship at Wilmette, Ill., May 2.

World Missions Meet

The annual Conference on World Missions will be held Sunday through Thursday at Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Speakers on the program include Dr. William A. McIlwaine, missionary to Japan; Dr. C. Darby Fulton, executive secretary of the Southern Presbyterian Board of World Missions; Martha Little, missionary to West Brazil and Dr. J. P. McCallie, headmaster of the McCallie Schools, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Sessions are slated at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday and 7:30 p. m. Monday through Thursday.

Lewis Elected

Charles Lewis of Kirkwood Church has been elected president of the subdistrict which includes the churches in the northern section of the Atlanta East District of the Methodist Church.

Other officers include June Watson, vice-president; Margaret Prince, recording secretary; Elanor Pittman, corresponding secretary and Fay Webb, treasurer.

New committee chairmen are A. Kempton Haynes Jr., publicity; Barbara Brown, worship; Norma Moor, community service; Hugh Hunicutt, missions and world friendship and Paul Bradley, recreation.

Georgia Civil Air Patrol To Stage Mock Raid To Test Skywatchers

Georgia's Civil Air Patrol "raiders" will fly over central and northern portions of the state Sunday in a mock air raid to test volunteer skywatchers of the Ground Observer Corps, CAP officials announced here Friday.

The exercise, scheduled by CAP's Georgia Wing Headquarters at the request of the Air Force and the GOC, will be staged under director of the patrol's Atlanta Group 1. Some 1,500 GOC aircraft spotters, Civil Defense Filter Center workers, and CAP members will participate.

Maj. Joel C. Foster, Group L commanding officer in charge of the mission, said about 25 planes will take off from Parkaire Airport in Marietta around 11 a. m.

Pilots, observers, and planes from patrol units in Athens, Macon, Carrollton, Newnan and LaGrange will join the Atlanta squadrons in Sunday's mission. Georgia Air National Guard and Air Force and Naval Reserve planes and pilots will also take part.

Planes participating in the mock raid will fly over spotter positions in towns throughout this region, including Columbus, Rome, Athens, West Point, Canton, Dahlonega, Cornelia, Norcross and Toccoa.

Baptist Groups Vote for Merger

Delegates from the General Missionary Baptist Convention and the Georgia Educational Baptist Convention have voted to merge the two organizations.

The two groups have operated separately for 16 years. The combined organizations represent 65,000 members.

A committee of 30 members, 15 from each group, will propose a constitution and other objectives to a convention of the combined organizations in November.

BTU Elects Region Officers

Constitution State News Service

LaGRANGE, April 24 — Some 700 members of the Georgia Baptist Training Union in the Central Western Region held their annual convention here Thursday night and elected officers for 1953.

Mrs. W. S. Gilmer, Atlanta, was elected president. Others include: C. Jack Caldwell, LaGrange, vice-president; Mrs. Macie Slayton, Columbus, regional leader; W. H. Sanders, Thomaston, executive committeeman, and Sam Poole, Fairburn, state nominating committee.

School Authority Ordered To Halt Rome Architects' Pay

The State School Building Authority has been temporarily enjoined from paying a Rome firm for architectural service, and the Rome firm of Montgomery-Turner and Associates have been temporarily restrained from drawing plans for 14 new schools in Floyd and Whitfield Counties.

Judge Frank Guess of the DeKalb Superior Court issued the restrainer at the request of the Georgia Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, an association of architects.

The association charged that Hugh Montgomery and Monroe Turner of Rome are not registered architects and therefore are ineligible to do architectural work on the schools being financed by the State School Building Authority. The association asked that Clarence Herbert Glass, a registered architect of DeKalb County, be prevented from placing a seal as "registered architect" on the plans of Montgomery-Turner and Associates unless he personally supervised them.

Judge Guess set a hearing for May 5.

13 Atlanta Women Leaders tell

"WHAT MY RELIGION MEANS"

Here is a series of articles that will appeal to everyone. Thirteen Atlanta women leaders tell their personal story of what religion has meant in their daily lives . . . how it has brought them hope, confidence, freedom from fear.

In this series, women of all faiths tell how their own personal beliefs have affected their daily living . . . how their religion helps them to build peace, confidence, inspiration.

Don't miss this opportunity to read "WHAT MY RELIGION MEANS," Beginning Sunday, April 26, and continuing daily in

THE CHURCH IN PROPHECY

Every church under the sun had a beginning at some time in the past. Members of man-made denominations point with pride to the beginning dates of their churches, and some of them stage annual and centennial celebrations of their establishment. The church of Christ also had a beginning date in history, but it stands alone in that its beginning time was set by the God of heaven and foretold by the prophets of God in Israel.

"In The Last Days"

About 700 years before Christ was born, the prophet, Isaiah foretold the time when the church of the Lord should be established. He said, "And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it" (Isa. 2:2). The "Lord's house" of Isaiah is the church of the New Testament, for Paul spoke of the church as "the house of God" (1 Tim. 3:15). The "last days" means the Gospel Age, for Peter explained the descent of the Holy Spirit upon the Apostles on Pentecost in Jerusalem as the fulfillment of Joel's prophecy that such should come to pass "in the last days" (Acts 2:17). He also said this was "the beginning" of the church (Acts 11:15). "All nations" began to "flow unto it" that day as the prophet had said, for 3,000 souls "out of every nation under heaven" were baptized and were added to the church that day (Acts 2:5, 41).

Rails Lead Stocks' Late Comeback

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, April 24—Determined support for a few rail issues changed the tone of today's stock market. After they had drifted downward to make new lows for the year, prices were pushed upward in the final hour to end the session with a net gain. Some of the rubbers, chemicals and aircrafts joined the advance but oils, motors and steels lagged.

The week was the fifth in succession to end with a net loss. New lows for the year were made Monday, Thursday and today.

It was a market full of contradictions. Volume which registered 1,780,000 shares, was relatively heavier early in the day, when prices were declining than on the rally. Despite the strength of New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio and Northern Pacific, which led the upward move, the rail average barely managed to break better than even on the day, in turnovers, but showed a gain of 25 cents in the Dow. Union Pacific lost 1¾ points and made a new low.

BIRTHDAY GIFT

Grady Girl Is Crowned Miss Atlanta

Marylin Eckerman, a blond 18-year-old Grady High School senior, received her biggest surprise birthday present Friday night when she was crowned Miss Atlanta of 1953—while the ice cream for her birthday was melting at home.

The last contestant in the judging, Marylin had planned to scoot home for the party—not imagining she was to be handed the bouquet of roses, her official title and a trip to Columbus to compete in the "Miss Georgia" contest.

The pert, five-foot-eight drum majorette with laughing brown eyes, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom H. Hearn, 311 Lakemore Dr., N. E.

She is the niece of Jim Hearn, New York Giants pitcher.

1st Birthday Fete Surprise To Teen-Ager

Neil Connell, sophomore student at Druid Hills High School, had his first birthday party Friday night. His birthday cake bore one candle.

Neil, who's an orphan, explains he doesn't know when his birthday is because his birth records have been misplaced, and therefore, doesn't know just how old he is. So he's never had a birthday—or a party—before.

Fellow sophomore students at Druid Hills High staged a surprise party for Neil Friday night at the school's Teen Center. Neil, arriving for a scheduled dance with a date, was bewildered when classmates began singing, "Happy Birthday."

He first pushed his date forward, thinking the song was for her, then wrung his hands when he learned the party was for him.

Neil, whose friends estimate his age at 15, was living in Atlanta with his sister and brother-in-law until recently. But now they've moved. So the family of a school chum, Dr. and Mrs. Joel Smith of 1204 Burlington Dr., N. E., invited him to live with them so he could finish the term.

Sales Rise As Warmer Days Arrive

By ALEX JOINER

Warmer weather helped boost retail sales in many parts of the nation this week, Dun and Bradstreet reported Friday.

Total dollar volume in the South was estimated as being four to eight per cent higher than the level of a year ago.

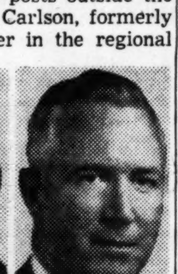

Household goods were in demand, as early interest in small air conditioners encouraged many retailers to anticipate record sales in the months ahead.

Apparel stores noted a slight decline in consumer interest during the week. Food store volume was about the same as the previous week and slightly higher than a year earlier.

ATLANTANS PROMOTED

William A. Toms, Southern regional sales manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division, Friday announced the promotion of two Atlanta men to posts outside the state. Oscar L. Carlson, formerly Lincoln manager in the regional

Cotton Gains Up to $3.60

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—Cotton futures turned firm Friday on active trade and commission house buying. Gains extended to $3.60 a bale before the market eased partially on profit-taking, but the selling tended to dry up on the decline.

Traders were surprised that the issuance of a large number of May transferable notices failed to bring heavy liquidation pressure in nearby May futures and rushed to cover short commitments in futures.

There were 891 May transferable notices issued at New York and according to trade reports more than a half of these notices were stopped by mills and some shippers. Mills were said to be taking the cotton because the price was considered attractive.

Sentiment in the market was also helped by substantial sales of print cloths and broadcloths in the cotton goods market, with sales the past two days estimated around 25,000,000 yards.

Futures closed unchanged to $2.90 a bale higher than the previous close.

Wheat, Beans Slip but Rally

CHICAGO, April 24—(AP)—Wheat and new crop soybeans had to absorb a goodly amount of selling pressure on the Board of Trade today. They couldn't do it without backing down a couple of cents.

By the time the market closed a part of the loss had been made up in wheat and just about all of it in new crop soybeans. The rest of the market performed erratically, with corn showing flashes of strength and rye tumbling to new seasonal lows.

Wheat closed ⅞ lower to ⅛ higher, corn ¼-½ higher, oats unchanged to ¼ higher, rye 1 to 1½ lower, soybeans ¼ lower to 1½ higher and lard 2 cents lower to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher.

A sudden burst of selling in wheat and new crop soybeans around the end of the first hour puzzled local analysts. Some felt it was based on statements by Agriculture Department officials yesterday that a lot of pressure was building up for reducing government support prices on 1954 crops.

The statement applied mainly to livestock feed crops. Corn and oats held up well on this selling splurge. Furthermore, Chairman Hope (Rep., Kan.) of the House agriculture committee today said farm leaders in Congress had no idea of changing the price support law.

The five day weather outlook was not encouraging for wheat. An inch of moisture was expected in extreme eastern Kansas and Oklahoma, which is not the territory most in need of rain. The western sections were expected to get an insignificant amount.

Sugar Futures

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—World sugar futures were irregular today. There was some liquidation, influenced by a slow demand for world raws.

Domestic sugar futures were steady. World raws were quoted at about 3.40 cents a pound f. o. b. Cuba.

Late Thursday an operator bought 3,000 tons of Philippines for mid-June arrival at 6.40 cents a pound delivered. This was five points higher than refiners last paid for raws.

Demand for refined was fair.

Swap of Sick Going on Today

the latest release was Pfc. Thomas C. Petty of Rte. 4, Fairmont, W. Va. The weather, bright and sunny, was perfect for the exchange.

Petty was followed by two Navy fliers, Ens. Marvin S. Broomhead of Salt Lake City and Airman Second Class William R. Hilyord of Columbus, Ind.

All came back to the assurance of adequate care and comfort in hospitals or in their family homes as the needs may require. This was in contrast to the crude and often skimpy care which earlier repatriates had said was given in Red hospitals and stockades.

QUOTA COMPLETED

The return of 100 men today completes the overall quota the Reds originally pledged. Both sides had said they would return more disabled captives than first promised.

The United Nations again returned 500 North Koreans and Chinese Reds. They originally promised a total of 6,033.

The 500 Reds who were exchanged today arrived here under double guard after singing and yelling all night on the 17-hour train trip from Pusan.

Extra details of Allied military police boarded the Red prisoner train at Kumchon, at the train commander's request. Twice the guards threatened to use tear gas to quiet the prisoners.

CANTANKEROUS LOT

"They're a mighty cantankerous lot," the train commander, Maj. Ranson Hawley, said.

One Red prisoner cut his hand on an overhead wire as he left the train for the exchange. He was immediately given first aid.

Lt. Col. Collins Wight, Dayton, Ohio, who bandaged the prisoner's hand, said:

"I bet when he arrives at the exchange point he'll rip off his bandage and wave his bleeding hand."

The possibility of a mass exchange of able-bodied war prisoners arose today.

An Allied proposal to put the prisoner exchange on a long range, unlimited basis opened at least a technical way for trading unharmed men as well as the sick and wounded.

Observers noted that, perhaps significantly, the Communists already have returned some prisoners who might be regarded as healthy. One returnee said flatly that nothing was wrong with him.

TALKS POSTPONED

These developments highlighted the exchange and related matters as it went into its sixth day:

1. The renewal of the truce talks, scheduled for 11 a. m. today, was postponed until 2 p. m. Sunday (12 midnight Atlanta time). The Communists asked for the postponement on the basis of unexplained "administrative reasons," and the Allies agreed.

2. Returning Allied prisoners told new stories of Communist torture, starvation and neglect which raised above the 3,000-mark the number of captives reported to have died in North Korea.

3. The Allies proposed and the Reds agreed to a speedup in returning the Communist prisoners. Beginning Monday, the 500 Red captives handed over each day will be handled in three and a half instead of five and a half hours.

4. The Allies disclosed that they were returning more Communist prisoners than the original program called for. That matched a like move by the Reds the day before. No numbers were mentioned by either side.

Under the exchange agreement negotiated here, the Allies reported they would hand back 6,033 Communists—5,099 North Koreans and 934 Chinese.

Lawmakers Fear Atrocity Probe Would Set Off Reprisals by Reds

from Freedom Village in Korea of Red atrocities in "Death Valley" where bodies were handled by the cartload. These reports raised above 3,000 the estimate of war prisoners who died in North Korea.

Some 800 were added to the total by latest reports from UN troops back from Communist prison camps.

While on the one hand there were accounts of death marches and torture, of brutality and starvation in Red prison camps, there were other soldiers who said they were treated as well as the enemy facilities permitted.

And along with word that many seriously ailing Allied captives were left behind in the camps was the fact that some of the repatriates were so healthy they might not be considered sick at all.

Allied authorities were expected to wait until all the reports could be studied closely before going ahead with tentative plans to protest to the Reds against holding back prisoners presumed to be covered by the agreement to exchange all sick and wounded.

The latest accounts from prisoners told of hundreds dying in a "Death Valley" while awaiting transfer to prison camps. They told of beatings, of prisoners being locked in cages so small they could not stand up, and of deliberate torture.

Pfc. Harold Witt of Bartlesville, Okla., estimated that only 40 men of the 300 Americans in his group came out of "Death Valley."

"They were carrying dead GIs out of there by the Korean cartloads," he said.

Cpl. Joe Lindsay Jewell of Norwood, Ohio, was there, too. He estimated 260 men never came out of the valley.

"Most of them died of starvation," he aid.

Marine Pvt. Paul Clements of Indianapolis said 400 Americans died on a tortuous forced march through North Korea in the winter of 1950.

"About 1,200 Americans started out on the march after we were captured," Clements said. "Close to 400 did not make it.

"We were wearing light clothes. The Chinese took away our shoes. Some of the men had to march without overcoats. There was no medical attention and not enough food."

A Puerto Rican marine in a Tokyo hospital told how Chinese doctors in a prison camp "sawed off" his right foot without anesthetics while guards held him tightly to an operating table. He was Pvt. Alberto Baez-Pizarro.

U.S. Taxes Net Record $68.5 Billion in 1952

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—The government took in more taxes last year than ever before in history—$68,500,000,000, or about $425 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue today reported the record tax collection, an increase of $12,500,000,000 over 1951. Both figures are for the calendar years.

The increases are due to higher tax rates, better business and higher incomes. Corporation taxes accounted for $5,600,000,000 of the increase, personal income taxes almost $6,000,000,000 and other taxes for smaller boosts.

Every state showed an increase in overall collections. New York state had the biggest total, $12,887,342,221, and Wyoming the smallest, $67,803,420.

Total individual income and employment tax collections for the year were $35,955,895,681, compared to $30,046,211,980 in 1951.

Taxes on corporate income and excess profits last year netted the government $22,139,733,198, compared to $16,564,712,956 in 1951.

The total of all other taxes last year was $10,406,935,389, compared to $9,482,414,494 the year before.

Under the heading of "all others" come such things as tobacco taxes, which yielded $1,661,662,341 last year; alcohol, $2,727,080,220, and so-called "excise" taxes—jewelry, $227,000; luggage, $94,000,000; telephone calls, $413,000,000; theater tickets, $315,000,000; gambling $10,000,000, and fishing equipment $3,600,000.

The top 10 states, in order of total federal tax collections were: New York; Illinois, $5,730,582,862; Pennsylvania, $5,377,162,289; Michigan, $5,203,356,162; California, $5,049,288,821; Ohio, $4,808,403,296; Texas, $2,296,747,215; New Jersey, $1,999,448,198; Missouri, $1,994,861,746, and Massachusetts, $1,927,598,848.

Only five states yielded less than $100,000,000 each — Nevada, North Dakota, South Dakota, Vermont and Wyoming.

Cigarettes Seized; Driver Tax Suspect

James F. Morris Sr., 53, of 300 14th St., N. W., a foreman for the Atlanta Transit Co., was arrested Thursday in Fannin County, near Blue Ridge, on charges of transporting and having possession of non-tax paid cigarettes.

J. B. Rhodes, director of the cigar and cigarette tax unit of the State Revenue department, said more than 1,000 cartons of cigarettes and a truck Morris was driving were confiscated.

He said Morris bought the cigarettes in Murphy, N. C., and that the arrest was the result of a year's investigation work. Morris, with the transit company since 1917, is at liberty under $800 bond, Rhodes said.

Appeal Held Up Pending City Committee Session

Vote Monday To Decide Action On Court-Ordered Election

By HERMAN HANCOCK

An appeal from court orders to elect 18 members of the City Executive Committee in the May 13 primary was held up Friday pending outcome of a showdown battle at a committee session scheduled at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the City Hall.

Frank Grizzard, who along with Frank Bowers represented the committee in an unsucessful fight against mandamus action to force the election, Friday notified committee officials the lawyers will take no action in connection with an appeal until and unless they get written instructions from a majority of the committee.

N. T. Chambers, committee secretary, said he has contacted members of the committee and is convinced a quorum will be present at Monday's meeting. T. Elton Drake, chairman, attempted to thresh the issue out at a session last Monday night, but a majority of the group failed to attend and no action was taken.

SETTLEMENT EXPECTED

Watson Cary, former committee secretary, who led a successful battle to defer an election until the Legislature establishes ward boundries paralleling the boundaries from which all other elective city officials are selected, predicted the whole matter will be settled at the Monday meeting.

Cary said his only idea was to defer the election until the "muddle" over wards was settled. The Legislature reduced wards from nine to eight, but in naming posts to be offered in elections in the new wards, failed to include executive committee members.

City Atty. Jack Savage ruled that while all other elective officials must be named from the eight new wards, executive committee members must be selected from the nine old wards.

Cary objected to that and forced his proposal deferring the election until the matter "is clarified." He said Friday he is confident the whole thing will be "straightened to the satisfaction of all concerned," adding "an election will be held before the end of the year and before the terms of present members expire."

"We never had any idea of attempting to hold office beyond our terms, but only until the ward boundary matter could be worked out," Cary said. "We just decided not to accept candidates for those positions pending clarification of the muddle."

When three Negroes were denied the right to qualify from the Third Ward and a group of white candidates were refused qualification from other wards they appealed to Fulton courts. The election then was ordered.

VOTING LINEUP

Meanwhile, W. M. (Bill) Teem, one of four candidates for the Eighth Ward board of education post, said he would ask the committee to rearrange voting machines for the primary so board candidates would have "equal" positions. He and his attorney, Ed White, told Chambers that aldermanic candidates are being placed in vertical positions on the machines while names of candidates for all other offices are arranged horizontally.

Chambers said Dr. Charles C. Rife, Second Ward candidate, and Fred Orr, running from the Seventh Ward, also filed objections. Chambers, however, said he does not think there is sufficient time to reset the machines and that instructions are clear.

Teems claimed candidates on the second line of the vertical listing will get fewer votes because voters will be confused. There is opposition in six of the eight board contests, and only those in the contested races have entered objections.

Lone GAR Vet Sends Greetings To Confederates

DULUTH, Minn., April 24. (AP)—The lone survivor of the Grand Army of the Republic sent good wishes today to "my friends" of the Confederate Army on the occasion of Confederate Memorial Day.

The Dixie holiday will be observed Sunday in Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Mississippi. Four Confederate veterans are still alive. Georgia's last survivor of the War Between the States, Gen. William J. Bush, died last year.

Albert Woolson, 106, sent word to his old enemies:

"Please accept my heartiest greetings and best wishes on this occasion. It is with the greatest pleasure that I extend greetings to my friends of the Confederate Army."

Pedestrian Is Killed by Doctor's Car

A 60-year-old Negro pedestrian identified by police as Shorty Nesvitt, Rte. 1, Stone Mountain, was kiled Thursday night when he was struck by an auto driven by a Grady Hospital doctor at Edgewod Ave. and Randolph Street, N. E., police said.

Nesbitt was the 18th traffic fatality this year, and the 12th pedestrian to die in a city accident.

18

This year, compared with 22 killed during the same period last year

Officers listed the driver as Dr. Charles C. Mabry, 23, of 503 Sterling St., N. E. No charges were placed against Dr. Mabry pending a complete investigation of the accident, police said.

Meanwhile two women suffered minor injuries when a tractor trailer truck crashed into their auto and two other cars near Pryor and Ormond Sts., S. E., police reported.

Listed as injured were Mrs. Audrey Lucille Dailey, 21, of 629 Amal Dr., S. W., and Mrs. Arla DeLoach Murphy, 31, of 323 Amal Dr., S. W. Both were passengers in the same car.

Police said the truck first hit the rear of an auto driving in front of the truck swerved into the other lane, hit an oncoming car in the left front, then struck the third car in which the women were riding spinning the machine around and onto a sidewalk.

Drivers of the vehicles involved were not injured, police said.

IKE'S NIECE — STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 24. Kathryn E. Eisenhower, 19-year-old freshman at Penn State College here, follows in her famous uncle's footsteps as she relaxes in her dormitory with a paint brush and canvas. # Ike Moves On Tideland Filibuster

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—President Eisenhower intervened tonight in an attempt to halt a Senate filibuster against the bill to establish state ownership of submerged oil lands.

Calling for prompt passage of the bill, he said in a letter to Senator Anderson, (Dem., N. M.) he is "deeply concerned" about the delay caused by the 17-day debate. He said it is holding up the administration's legislative program.

Newsmen asked Senator Taft of Ohio, the Senate's majority leader, whether he though Eisenhower's letter would break what Taft has described as an "honest-to-God filibuster"—the first one in this Congress.

"I would think it might," Taft replied.

But Anderson said the letter does not resolve a conflict within the administration regarding the terms of the bill itself. He suggested the bill be sent back to committee "to clarify these points," or that the "confusion" be corrected immediately by floor amendments.

The President told Anderson he favors prompt passage of the bill "with any amendments the Senate may approve, not inimical to the principles which I have expressed."

"It has never been my belief," he added, "that the several states should have any title to the lands beyond their historical boundaries on the continental shelf."

Anderson said the President's letter fails to "resolve the conflict" between what his administration spokesmen have suggested and what administration senators are supporting in the submerged lands bill.

Approval of New Schools Reaches 70 Pct. Mark

The State Board of Education has approved construction of enough new school buildings to put 70 per cent of Georgia's white and Negro children in adequate classrooms.

This was announced by Claude Purcell, director of administration of the department, Friday after the board had approved projects in five more school systems.

Start of construction of most of this huge school building program is being delayed by slow work of the architects, however. The board Friday called on the architects to speed up their drawing of plans. Of the 29 systems whose building programs were included in the first $32,000,000 bond issue sold by the School Building Authority, Purcell said final plans have been received for only nine.

The projects approved to date by the board will cost the state $116,919,805. Total cost of construction will be $148,936,209 with local systems supplementing state funds. The buildings will be constructed by the State Building Authority and leased to the local systems until the annual rentals pay off the construction cost and interest.

THREE-FOURTHS COMPLETE

"We are almost three-fourths through with our approval of new school projects to be financed through the School Building Authority," Purcell said. The total program will cost $187,000,000.

Projects already approved by the board comprise 5,002 new classrooms for white students and 4,470 new classrooms for Negroes. They include improvements or new buildings in 912 school areas. Purcell said 133 of Georgia's 201 county and independent school systems have had projects approved.

The board Friday approved $2,236,680 worth of new school facilities for Gwinnett County after rejecting a citizen group's protest of proposed school mergers in the county. The projects include 125 classrooms for white students and 12 for Negroes.

11 CUT TO 4

In launching its new building program, Gwinnett County will consolidate its 11 white high schools into four high schools. Snellville, Grayson and Centerville schools will be merged into South Gwinnett High School at Snellville. Duluth and Norcross will be merged into West Gwinnett High near Norcross. Dacula, Lawrenceville, Sunny Hill, Bethesda and Lilburn will be consolidated into Central Gwinnett High at Lawrenceville. Harmony, Sugar Hill, Sewanee, and a school near Buford will be merged into North Gwinnett High at Sewanee. Gwinnett will build combination elementary and high schools for Negroes at Lawrenceville and Norcross.

Existing high school buildings for white children will be converted into elementary schools.

The state board approved $2,757,169 worth of buildings for Bibb County. This will provide 85 new white classrooms and 59 Negro classrooms.

GORDON, CALHOUN

It approved $1,082,432 for 40 white classrooms in Gordon County and $244,800 for six white and nine Negro classrooms in the City of Calhoun.

It okayed $474,157 for 28 white and six Negro classrooms at Hogansville.

As it previously indicated, the state board Friday formally voted to abandon the "extended school program" which had provided special non-credit activities for children in the summer months. Courses offered were music, art, drama, reading, swimming and industrial arts. About 80,000 children and 1,528 teachers took part in this program.

The board voted to abandon this program in an effort to raise money to pay teachers their "earned" salary increases next year. The summer program cost $542,000. The board still is trying to raise an additional $3,900,000.

2-Way Oil Race Seen In Georgia

Constitution State News Service

BAINBRIDGE, April 24 — The race is on between two oil drillers, according to State Oil and Gas Commission Director H. A. Stallings, to capture the $100,000 state reward for the first commercial oil well in Georgia.

Director Stallings pointed to the Sealy well near Bainbridge, which has produced natural gas, oil and hot mineral water, and to the Natural Resources well in Wheeler County near Lumber City that has showed oil-producing shale.

"These two showings," Stallings said, "strengthen the belief that before long oil in commercial quantities will be found in Georgia."

Stallings reported that J. R. Sealy's operation in Decatur County has been visited by "a large number of oil company representatives—15 in one day."

The Sealy family entertained guests at a meal cooked over natural gas from the 3,000-foot-deep well.

Brooks Wife Never Lost Her Dream

By BETH POWERS

Constitution State News Service

QUITMAN, April 24—A Brooks County woman, who for almost three years has refused to believe that her missionary husband was dead in Korea, had her faith justified this week when she learned that the Rev. Lawrence Zellars has been a prisoner of the Korean Communists since July 1950 and is in the group of seven who will soon be on their way to Moscow on the first leg of their trip home.

Rev. Mr. Zellars' wife, the former Miss Frances Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Q. M. Rogers, of Barney, has been ill since her return from Korea in the fall of 1950. She became ill while serving as missionary in Korea. She now is much better.

The brilliant Brooks County girl was serving in the Methodist Mission Field in Korea when she met the missionary from Weatherford, Texas, also serving in that field. They were married in Korea and were among that group of energetic missionaries who remained.

In July of 1950 Mrs. Zellars and several wives of missionaries had gone into Japan for a brief vacation when the mission station was captured and the Rev. Zellars and the other missionaries were taken prisoners.

She has never had any word from her husband since she told him good-by before departing on the Japan visit but during the 33 months she never lost hope and felt that he was a prisoner of the Communists.

Reports from Moscow this week said six British civilians and an Irish priest had arrived in Moscow after long internment in North Korea. They reported seven Americans, among them the Rev. Mr. Zellars, had been held with them in a farmhouse outside Pyongyang and these Americans were in good health a month ago.

Troopers' Road Time Increased

State troopers are doing more road patrolling and less warrant serving and still raiding.

A Patrol survey Friday showed the troopers spent 18 per cent more time on the roads during the first three months of 1953 as compared with last year, and arrests increased 10 per cent. Aid to other oficers decreased 50 per cent, still raiding fell 85 per cent, and warrant serving declined 41 per cent, the patrol reported.

Merit System Safe, Postmen Are Told

MACON, April 24—(AP)—Georgia district postmasters meeting here today were told their best job insurance is to stick to their jobs and keep out of politics.

Orie E. Myers, fifth district director of the Civil Service Commission, told the delegates the change of administration in Washington should not concern them if they are doing a good job.

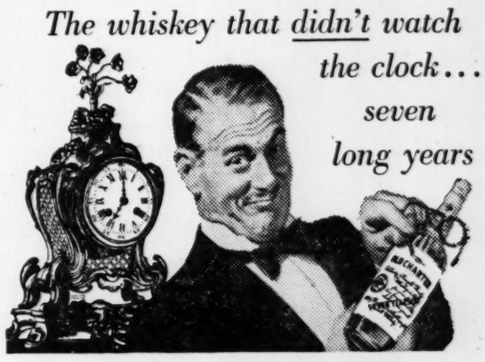

Meyers said he thinks the new administration will sustain and strengthen the merit system in the post office. Myers said faithful performance of duty is the best way to avoid dismissal.

Lawrence P. Jones of Yorkville, Tenn., president of the National League of District Postmasters, told the Georgia branch delegates that "civil service and politics do not mix." He said the league is "a service, not a political organization" and members should strive to keep away from politics.

Jones said the league has "good hopes" of Congressional action to correct "inequities" of pay in the postal department. He mentional measures now before Congress that would give automatic increases to postmasters and change the system whereby postmasters are paid in accordance with receipts of their office.

40,000 See Most Colorful Parade Crown Thomasville Rose Festival

By ALBERT RILEY

Constitution Staff Writer

THOMASVILLE, April 24—A record crowd of more than 40,000 persons lined the streets of Thomasville Friday to watch the 1953 Rose Festival parade that turned out to be one of the most spectacular displays of pageantry in Georgia history.

It perhaps came nearer to matching the parades of the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena or the Mardi Gras in New Orleans than any other event ever staged in this state.

If such a parade were to move down Peachtree Street, Atlantans probably would be talking about it for months.

The charm of the Old South and the progress of the New Dixie were depicted by 30 floats, 14 bands and hundreds of lovely South Georgia girls, some in bathing suits and some in hoop skirts of the ante bellum era.

Neva Jane Langley, Miss America of 1953, shared honors in the two-mile-long parade with Caroline Willis of Coolidge, the Rose Show Queen, and with Mrs. Medora Field Perkerson, Atlanta author of "White Columns in Georgia."

The weather was almost perfect. Breezes from the Gulf blew clouds out of the sky as the parade moved out of town to the Veterans Administration Domiciliary where the Rose Show was presented in four buildings.

Spectators flocked to the show to see magnificent floral displays, including a long-stemmed Crimson Glory rose adjudged the queen and grand champion flower. It was grown and entered in the show by Mrs. J. A. Curry of Thomasville.

Mrs. J. C. Scott of Thomasville won the high ranking McFarland trophy with a collection of 12 roses, and also copped the Thomasville rose trophy with three Crimson Glories.

While thousands viewed the show, other thousands went on festival tours of city gardens and plantation estates. Two dances, including the annual rose ball and the crowning of "Miss Deep South" climaxed the festival Friday night. More tours and a golf tournament are scheduled Saturday.

COOLIDGE WIN

The nearby town of Coolidge not only provided the festival queen but also won $300 top prize for the best city float in the parade. This float from a truck-farming center featured a patch of growing cabbages against the background of a lawn and replica of a white-columned Southern mansion. Little Negro boys were picking cabbages in the patch, carrying out the float's theme of "Cabbages for Miss Caroline." The festival queen, farmerettes in straw hats and green play suits on an agricultural float won second prize for the city of Cairo. The third prize went to Pavo's float, which featured another cabbage patch and a beautiful girl inside a huge picture frame.

Although it won no prize, a Jacksonville Beach float depicted a beach scene, complete with sand, colorful umbrellas, beautiful girls in bathing suits and lifeguards, received terrific applause.

CKS Hold Annual Formal

By DOTTY LUNDY

Jane Ann Spink reigned as Miss Scepter over the Starlight Coronation Ball of Christ the King Friday night. The Ansley Roof was her throne room and the occasion was the annual CKS formal.

Senior superlatives also acclaimed were Mary Koch, wittiest; Sandy Sexton, most original; Ann Markley, most natural, and Carol Jordan, most humorous. Barbara Lynch is president of the senior class.

Sylvan High students stomped around the school cafeteria in their brogans Friday night at the Hillbilly Jamboree. A band and vocalist straight from the hills provided fiddlin' and singin'.

TRACK MEET

Jerry Birdsong and Earl Matthews of Roswell High will compete in the State Track Meet at Macon May 1. Sophomores' pride, Rick Hawkins, won second place in the light weight class of beef livestock in the State Beef Cattle Show.

D. O. Z. AWARDS

Irma Lefkoff was proclaimed best all around at the annual D. O. Z. banquet this week. Other award winners were Laynette Kaplan, Best Basketball player; Shirley Whiteman, Delta Phi Epsilon Leadership Award; Dorothy Cohen, Best Pledge, and Frances Vernér, Most Valuable Softball Player.

Patricia Ellison was recognized as outstanding Future Homemaker in the Atlanta area this week. A senior at Grady High, she won a $150 college scholarship awarded by the Atlanta-Fulton County Council of FHA. The presentation was made by Ellen Anderson of Murphy High, at the first spring banquet at the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia.

HOMEMAKER PINS

Joseph Habersham Chapter, DAR, presented Girl Homemaker pins to the most representative FHA girl in each Atlanta-Fulton Co. high school.

Atlanta winners were Joyce Hutchinson, Bass; Judy Jones, Brown; Cynthia Reed, Fulton; Patricia Ellison, Grady; Elaine Webb, Murphy; Kitty Cousins, North Fulton; Ann Black, Northside; Louise Edwards, O'Keefe; Janelle Hicks, Roosevelt; Alice Hatton, Smith; Charlotte Gunter, Southwest; Barbara Brand, Sylvan Hills, and Ramona Roland, West Fulton.

County winners were Minnie Lee Hose, Campbell; Patsy Crawford, College Park; Martha Davis, Hapeville; Fausteen Hall, Milton; Ann Thomas, Roswell, and Ann Buffington, Russell.

TOLLING BELLS FOR FORTHCOMING MENTAL HEALTH FUND WEEK
Mrs. Napier Burson, a Leader in Georgia's Participation in National Drive

Bells Ring For Mental Health

By JEAN ROONEY

"Ring the Bell for Mental Health," is a new battle cry of Atlanta women.

Health-conscious women over the city are joining hands with men to sponsor Georgia Mental Health Fund Week, May 3-9.

The state drive is part of a nationwide campaign sponsored by the National Association of Mental Health. Funds will be used to educate the public to early symptoms of mental illness.

"They will also provide better treatment for Georgia's hospitalized mentally ill," reports Mrs. Shirley C. Sartain, director of women's participation in the campaign.

CAMPAIGN CABINET

A campaign cabinet of feminine workers was announced Friday by Lee Price Jr., general chairman. It is composed of Mrs. Roy T. Fricks, Mrs. Alden T. Eddy, Mrs. Napier Burson Jr., Mrs. M. Mittleman, Mrs. Henry H. Ogden, Mrs. Harold E. Montag and Mrs. William McNeal.

A sponsors' committee includes: Mrs. Malcolm Bryan, Mrs. T. M. Forbes, Miss Ira Jarrell, Mrs. Shelly Davis, Mrs. Spann Milner, Mrs. Richard H. Rich, Mrs. Herman Talmadge and Mrs. Albert E. Thornton.

FASHION SHOW

The public is invited to kick off the drive at a fashion show-luncheon at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday at Druid Hills Golf Club.

Show officials are Mrs. Fricks, Mrs. Frank Loner, Mrs. Adrian Bullard and Mrs. Mittleman.

A special feature will be flowers co-ordinated to the fashions. They will be arranged by Loring Heights Garden Club. Mrs. Day Johnson is president.

Georgian Named to DAR Post

Mrs. Leonard D. Wallace of Madison, former regent of the Georgia Society DAR, has been elected registrar general of the National Society DAR now in session in Washington.

With the second highest vote on the slate of 2,089 out of 2,110, the Georgia leader was declared elected on the ticket of Miss Gertrude Carraway of New Bern, S. C., the new president general.

Georgia was well represented at the national congress, with Atlanta delegates in attendance representing the Atlanta Habersham and Cherokee chapters, as well as the Baron DeKalb of Decatur.

The state delegation is headed by Mrs. T. Earle Stribling, Georgia regent.

Industry and Culture Now On Equal Basis in India

By YOLANDE GWIN

India is balancing its industrial life with its philosophy and culture, according to a member of the Washington embassy staff.

Miss Helen Athanaelos, an American citizen (she was born in Kannapolis, N. C.) of Greek parentage, visiting in Atlanta, said:

"America and India have a lot of ideas which could be swapped with beneficial results to both. India has done a superb job of paralleling its industry with its culture. The supply of material equipment for industrial, community and defense purposes requested is evidence of the present mode of life."

The young girl, a science major from the University of North Carolina, has been with the supply mission of the Indian Embassy in Washington for over three and a half years. Through her buying, India is supplied with laboratory and meteorological equipment, various types of scientific equipment for research purposes, as well as medical supplies.

"There is a great demand for agricultural supplies, such as products for lotus killing," continued Miss Athanaelos. "Many Indians are coming to the United States for practical training along varied industrial lines. They still hold to that old British idea of workable experience. My superior officer, B. K. Palit, handles all the placements in this country."

The British influence on Indian life extends even to the embassy office in Washington, said the visitor. Tea time is observed at 10:30 in the morning and at 3:30 in the afternoon. Small cookies are served with the beverage, she said. Although most of the embassy drinkers prefer the English custom of cream, many use lemon.

Teas rather than cocktail parties are foremost on the entertainment schedule at the embassy, on Massachusetts Ave.

Many of the women there wear saris, said Miss Athanaelos, but there is still a definite Western influence in dress and British influence in customs.

Miss Athanaelos is here to spend the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Toni Jinis at 1170 Boulevard, N. E.

Atlanta Women Plan Cancer Drive

Several thousand Atlanta women will visit homes in their neighborhoods Tuesday night between 7 and 9 p. m. as a part of the 1953 crusade against cancer.

These volunteer workers will ask for contributions as well as giving home owners life-saving facts about cancer. Homeowners are urged to turn on their porch lights during the calling hours and apartment dwellers should tie handkerchiefs on their door knobs to signify a welcome to the workers.

Mrs. Anne Hayes Will Address Meet

Mrs. Anne Hayes of Kansas City, Kans., a former newspaper woman and current radio columnist, will speak to local members of the American Business Women's Association and Women's Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting at 6 p. m. Wednesday at the YWCA.

"You and Your Career" will be Mrs. Hayes' subject.

Atlantans to Get Preview Of Coronation Spectacle

Plan to witness the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II as part of the mobs on Piccadilly or by your living room TV? In either case, The Constitution's Coronation Series, beginning Monday, is as good as a peephole view inside Westminster Abbey.

The first two articles will be written by Mrs. Rix Stafford, former Constitution Woman's Editor, who attended the Coronation of George VI in 1937. Eight installments will follow by leading British authorities, describing fully the spectacle of our times.

Met Opera Star Will Be Honored

When Metropolitan star Roberta Peters was visiting her good friend, Mrs. Albert Selig, last October, she made the Selig daughter, Lynn, very happy on her 14th birthday by bringing in her candle-lighted cake and singing "Happy Birthday to You."

On Miss Peters' arrival next week to sing in the opera, "Cosi Fan Tutte," she, with her mother, Mrs. Ruth Peters, will again be a guest at the Selig home, and Lynn is planning to return the compliment.

For on May 4 Miss Peters will celebrate her birthday, and she has obtained permission from Rudolph Bing to remain in Atlanta for the auspicious occasion. The others of the Metropolitan troupe will depart early Monday.

Lynn is not only planning to present the star with a cake and sing "Happy Birthday" to her, but she and the members of her Roberta Peters Fan Club are hoping they may give a party for the famed coloratura.

Miss Peters and Mrs. Peters will arrive next Thursday, and following the opera that evening, Mr. and Mrs. Selig will entertain a group of close friends in their honor.

MRS. RICHARD CANNON, Mrs. Robert B. Pegram Jr. and Mrs. James Stradling have returned from Miami Beach, where they were guests of Mrs. Lindsey Hopkins Jr. at her winter home.

GEN. AND MRS. TROUP MILLER will have as their guests for opera at their Dellwood Dr. residence Col. and Mrs. Ernest S. Barker of Macon.

A CHARLOTTE VISITOR coming to opera is Mrs. Armstead Burwell, who arrives Wednesday to be the guest of Mrs. Miles Hoffman on W. Andrews Dr.

CANADIAN VISITOR—Miss Nancy Mylks of Kingston, Ontario, admires Atlanta's dogwood on her first trip to the South. She is the guest for two weeks of Mrs. Paul M. Potter on Peachtree Rd. during her spring vacation from school, and is being widely entertained by members of the younger set.

LEAVING FRIDAY, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Martin flew to Reddington Beach, Fla., to spend the week end with their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lundeen Jr., at their beach home.

BRIDE-ELECT JEANNE HEISLEY will be central figure at the linen shower at which Mrs. Frank H. Griggs and her daughter, Mrs. LeRoy Fargason Jr., will entertain at 4 o'clock today.

A May Day motif will be featured in the decorations. Mrs. Scott Tarplee will assist in entertaining. Guests will include college friends of Miss Heisley, who is attending Agnes Scott.

MUSIC LOVERS who make an annual visit to Atlanta for opera season are Mrs. James M. Hall of Roseboro, N. C., and her daughter, Miss Catherine Hall of Raleigh. They arrive Wednesday to be guests of the former's son, James P. Hall, at 729 Bonaventure Ave.

A FAREWELL gesture to Mrs. Charles Younts and Mrs. Brook Reeve, both of whom leave for Europe at an early date, was the luncheon given by Mrs. Lee Bivings at the Driving Club. Covers were placed for a dozen friends of the honor guests.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM H. POLLARD have returned from a two-week tour of Florida. At Miami Beach they were guests at the Sherry Frontenac.

In May the Pollards will move into their new home on Peachtree Dr.

MISS SUSAN DEAN of Laurens, S. C., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Moore, on W. Wesley Rd.

Your Stars Today

DAILY GUIDE—Today and tomorrow are days for such generous impulses that one should guide these gestures constructively rather than restrict them. Give if you must, but let it be for the right causes.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, TAURUS! This should have proved an important month for you and I hope you took advantage of the many opportunities which surely came your way. You could have been aggressive and active and started some important project, or you could have been too impatient and belligerent and spoiled your good fortune.

McCarthy, N. Y. Editor Swap Jibes

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—Senator McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) today caled before his Senate investigations subcommittee for closed door questioning of James A. Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, who often has denounced the senator.

After the hour and 10 minute session they told reporters they had denounced each other face-to-face, and Wechsler accused McCarthy of using "intimidation" tactics against the press.

McCarthy told reporters he had called Wechsler to testify "not as a newspaperman but as an author" and onetime member of the Young Communist League whose books have been purchased for U. S. Libraries established overseas.

WRITINGS QUESTIONED

McCarthy insisted the summons did not stem from a series of 17 articles the Post ran last year denouncing him. He said most of the questioning of the editor dealt with Wechsler's writings and whether he had sincerely broken with communism in 1937 as Wechsler often has declared.

Addressing the reporters separately later, Wechsler said he had told McCarthy "I regarded the hearings as a flagrant attempt to intimidate editors who opose Senator McCarthy."

FIRST OF LONG LINE

He said he predicted to the senator that "I would be the first of a long line of editors who are going to be called because they refused to equate McCarthyism with patriotism."

"I challenge the whole business of calling editors down here and questioning them about their staff and what they had published, but I said I would answer because the Post had nothing to hide."

He said he aded that "the Post would continue to say what it thought of McCarthy."

A Rhyme a Day

Here a hill slopes to the west . . . and there it slopes toward the south . . . and on the mountain's greening crest . . . a cannon stands with rusting mouth . . . a cannon, with a voice that spoke . . . in tones commanding, now is still . . . noise and flame and battle-smoke . . . are strangers to this peaceful hill.

Unremembered heroes lie . . . underneath the waving grass . . . while the stars traverse the sky . . . while the seasons swiftly pass . . . here, where braver men have died . . . we stood upon the hallowed spot . . . while the passing breezes cried . . . from the waving pines, "for what?"

Salutations to the brave . . . blow the bugle, play the fife . . . a flower placed upon a grave . . . is not a fair exchange for life . . . bow the head and breathe a prayer . . . that they have not died in vain . . . dust with dust is mingled there . . . only memories remain.

Hartsfield Charges Brown Dodges Appearing on TV

Mayor Hartsfield Friday night challenged his opponent, Charlie Brown, to appear on television in person, permitting the people of Atlanta "to judge his campaign for themselves instead of resorting to devices and novelty programs."

The mayor made the challenge over WAGA-TV, saying, "Brown is refusing to let the people see and hear himself in person."

Hartsfield characterized one Brown program as a group of citizens reading their script, and another as a "stuffed buzzard" imitation of the famous phonix on the seal of Atlanta.

"Sam Pass, who boasted he would wreck the Plan of Improvement and who was a plaintiff in suits to kill it, sponsored the Charlie Brown for Mayor rally held Thursday night at Ben Hill," Hartsfield said.

"We have co-operated with railroads in procuring more industrial sites to bring more industry to Atlanta and to provide more jobs as one of our progressive programs.

"My opponent is talking about a safety director. That is a simple subterfuge to get rid of Police Chief Jenkins. Brown once thought enough of him to make him chief of the County Police department while Brown was a Fulton commissioner. What's wrong with Chief Jenkins?

"The only thing I can think of is that when Brown wanted Jenkins to politick for him four years ago, the chief refused. When Brown was commissioner, he ousted two Fulton County chiefs, George Mathieson and C. E. Mitchell, and now he is after our police chief. All this doesn't look good to the people of Atlanta and is not going to fool anyone."

39,000 Children Invade Lakewood With Lockheed Families Today

A small fry army—39,000 strong—will take over Lakewood Park Saturday.

Their parents will accompany them, however, as they participate in the first annual family day of the Lockheed Recreation Club, sponsors of the affair.

A highlight event will be selection and crowning of "Miss Lockheed Georgia Division of 1953" at 7 p. m. Another feature will be boxing and wrestling by members of the Lakewood Boys Club.

The recreation club has taken over all facilities of the park for the day, solely for Lockheed employees and their families.

Teachers Are Told Tensions Can Undermine Their Poise

Dr. Daniel Prescott, head of the Child Study Institute, Friday night told some 200 Atlanta area educators that "tensions" can undermine a teacher's poise and destroy her classroom value.

The University of Maryland professor, who 15 years ago began a scientific approach to solving school children's behavior, offered a six-point method of managing these emotions:

"Learn to have fun, develop relationships with loved ones, associate with socially useful groups, know the truth behind world situations, clarify what you really believe in, and orient yourself outside of immediate concerns—develop a faith."

Dr. Prescott spoke at a dinner given by the Atlanta Area Teachers Education Service at Emory University. He was introduced by Dr. Floyd Jordan, coordinator of AATES.

He is visiting the AATES as consultant to the Child Study group here. Composed of classroom teachers and principals, the child study meetings trace growth, attitudes, culture energy and social adjustment in behavior, Dr. Prescott said.

British Envoy, Molotov Confer

MOSCOW, April 24 (AP) — British Ambassador Sir Alvary Gascoigne talked for 40 or 45 minutes with Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov yesterday about British-Soviet questions in their second meeting within two weeks.

Indications are that nothing essentially new came up in the conversation.

CAA Denies EAL Plea for Cheaper Aircoach Routes

The Civil Aeronautics Authority has turned down Eastern Air Lines' application to establish low-cost aircoach routes between Atlanta and nine other large cities.

Announcement of the CAA decision reached the EAL Atlanta office Friday by teletype from Miami Beach, Fla., where airline executives were holding a silver anniversary party, celebrating Eastern's 25 years of operation, according to Elmo Gooden, EAL chief agent.

Eastern's application called for setting up aircoach routes between Atlanta and Boston, New Orleans, Houston, Jacksonville, Tampa, Miami, Birmingham, Mobile and San Antonio.
